SEEK GREATER AIR FORCE

Tornado Toll In Oklahoma Is Mounting

At Least 14 Persons Are Killed And Dozens Injured In Storm

TORNADO ALSO HITS ARKANSAS

(BULLETIN)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. March 26.—(INS)—At least 14 persons were killed, dozens injured and property damaged heavily by tornadoes that swept across central and eastern Oklahoma during the night.

The heaviest death toll was reported in the farm area six miles southeast of Wetumka where eight persons died, five of them members of one family.

Report 87 Planes Wrecked

Heaviest property damage was reported at Tinker Field, near Oklahoma City, where 87 planes were wrecked last night in the second tornado to strike the field within a week.

A tornado which ripped over the air force base last week-end wrecked 102 planes and caused damage estimated at $10,000,000.

No estimate of the new damage was available, although officials at the air base believed it would run much less than the havoc created in the first storm.

Early today, the main part of the storm roared into Arkansas, injuring at least one person and causing considerable property damage near Booneville, in western Arkansas. No deaths were reported in Arkansas.

Toll Mounting

Meanwhile, the death toll from tornadoes which struck four widely separated eastern Oklahoma farm communities mounted today with the recovery of additional bodies from battered farm homes.

Latest reports from the Oklahoma highway patrol showed eight bodies recovered near Wetumka, Okla., two near Sallisaw, one near Folks driving down Highland avenue early last evening were treated to a rare sight. A huge grass fire was burning in the section above North Liberty street, which had spread out in a large circle. As one came down over the hill, it appeared to be a ring of fire, surrounding the steeple of one of the downtown churches.

Good Friday Procession Staged In Jerusalem

By BENN FELLER
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

JERUSALEM, March 26.—Christians in Jerusalem staged their traditional Good Friday procession today along the route over which Christ carried his cross to Calvary despite continued Arab-Jewish hostilities.

The ranks of the worshippers, estimated at between 600 and 700, were thinned to a smattering by comparison to former years because of the communal warfare.

Only a few British Catholics were observed among the Arab Christians who made up the procession, and no British troops participated.

Arab national guards, armed with automatic weapons, escorted the procession as the participants knelt at each station of the cross to recite prayers and listen to short sermons.

The procession, led by a high Latin church dignitary, entered the Basilica of the Holy Sepulchre, shortly before noon.

Earlier the strafing fire from the guns of Arab snipers shattered

U. S. Delegation Seeks To Shape U. N. Program

Plans Feasible Action On Palestine Problem And Chile's Case Against Russia

SECURITY COUNCIL RESUMES TUESDAY

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 26.—The U. S. delegation is working behind closed doors at Lake Success to shape a feasible program in United Nations on the explosive Palestine problem and Chile's case against Russia.

The American representatives have until Tuesday to make their plans. At that time the security council meets to hear the U. S. proposal on the Holy Land.

Look To Austin

For the second time, the 11-nation body will look to Warren R. Austin, U. S. representative, for a resolution calling for a special session of the general assembly to reconsider the entire Palestine problem.

President Truman's declaration that the U. S. will go ahead with a temporary trusteeship plan for Palestine but that partition is the eventual solution cost him support among Arab and other delegations at Lake Success.

Both the Arabs and the Jews are cool to the president's proposed truce.

The Arabs openly declare they will resist any plan.

The Jewish Agency flatly rejects the trusteeship plan and resents further efforts to bring them together with the Arabs. The president's instructions to Austin, how-

Soviet Freighter, With War Supplies Leaves New York

JERSEY CITY, N. J., March 26.—(INS)—The Soviet freighter Chukotka, loaded with supplies for Russia's war machine, sailed from Jersey City this morning.

She will stop at Philadelphia to pick up additional cargo before departing for Russia.

Another Russian vessel, The Volga, immediately moved into the Chukothas berth to rush loading of a cargo in a race to beat the impending ban on shipment of arms to Russia and her satellite countries.

Loading of The Volga got under way at 10 a. m., three hours after The Chukotka sailed, with 42 stevedores working in two shifts.

Two more Russian vessels, the liner Rossia, and the freighter Petrovski were being readied to try to beat the expected total embargo.

Weather Forecast Over Easter Period

(Extended weather forecast for the five day period beginning Saturday, March 28, through Wednesday, March 31, for Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, and West Virginia.)

Temperature will average about five degrees above normal, colder Saturday and Sunday, warmer Monday; becoming cooler late Tuesday and Wednesday. Showers early Saturday, and about Tuesday. Total precipitation one-half to three-fourths of an inch.

Rent Control Extension Bill Before Truman

Needs Only President's Signature To Become Law—Effective For One Year

By CHARLES B. SEIB
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 26.—A one-year extension of federal rent controls needs only President Truman's signature today to become law.

The new rent bill, which generally continues present controls, was passed by the house and senate in short order Thursday after three days of joint conference. It is slated to go to the White House today.

Democratic leaders said the president undoubtedly will sign the compromise measure before present controls die next Wednesday. It becomes effective April 1.

The new bill's most striking departure from the 1947 law is the

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—The State Department disclosed today that the United States government plans to ship one million 860 thousand packages of cigarettes to Italy as part of a work incentive program.

Michael J. McDermott, spokesman for Secretary of State Marshall, flatly denied, however, that 50 tons of cigarettes were being flown to Italy in an effort to influence the Italian elections.

Arrangements are being made to send 360,000 packages to Sardinia and one million 500 thousand packages elsewhere.

McDermont said that not over $100,000 would be spent on the incentive program and the cigarettes would not arrive in advance of the Italian elections.

Glass Company At Rochester Burns

ROCHESTER, Pa., March 26.—(INS)—Thirty people escaped injury Thursday when a spectacular fire, preceded by an explosion, destroyed the Venetian Glass company in Rochester township.

The 30 people, who work in the plant, escaped when gas in a tempering kiln exploded about 12:30 p. m.

Rochester borough and Rochester township fire departments fought the blaze for more than four hours before it was brought under control.

Thirty-Seven Are Safe—Violent Storm Crushes Four Sealing Vessels In Ice

SOME SURVIVORS ON TINY ISLAND

By JACK McLEAN

(Distributed by International News Service)

BOSTON, March 26.—Thirty-seven men are safe, the fate of 46 others unknown in the wake of a violent storm that crushed four sealing vessels in the suddenly broken ice field of the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Search also began for two unreported sailing vessels having total crews of 46 men aboard.

A Milton navy veteran at 3 o'clock this morning led the 20-man crew of his lost ship to safety on bleak and tiny St. Paul's Island ten miles off Cape Breton's north tip. They had made an epic crawl for 18 hours through a blizzard, over ice hills and drifting floes.

Their shipper is Capt. Joseph B. Barry, 29, who makes his home with his mother Mrs. Anna Barry at Milton.

Ship Disappears

Their ship was the former Gloucester Schooner Teazer which they abandoned and which disappeared before their eyes under a moving, grinding mountain of ice. She had a fortune in seal skins aboard, an estimated 6000 pelts.

Also caught in the rising tide of ice are the seal ships Monica Wates, whose crew of 16 also walked ashore, the Albert & Emily, crew of 26, and the Mary S. Hyde, crew of 20.

The latter two were in the same vicinity as the Teazer and have not been heard from. A government ice breaker is making a search for the Monica Waters and RCAF planes flew at dawn hunting the others.

The 21 from the Teazer are still marooned though they are safe. St. Paul's Island has only a government wireless station and two small lighthouses. Planes will drop food and medical supplies on the island. Some of the crew were cut and bruised and otherwise slightly injured.

One army search plane was sent from Westover Field and a big transport plane loaded with a helicopter is standing by to make the flight if crews of the other ships are located.

Two Erie Boys Drowning Victims

ERIE, Pa., March 26.—(INS)—Two three year-old county lads were dead today, both the victims of drowning.

The search for Russel Will, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Will, of Waterford, ended Thursday with the discovery late in the afternoon of the boy's body floating face downward in a creek.

Found By Father

The child had wandered from his home in Kearsarge, lost himself in a woods fringing the creek and crossed the stream several times apparently slipping and falling in deep water.

The father found his body after having traced the child's footsteps from an abandoned bridge over the creek.

Several hours earlier James Wimmer, 3, drowned in a duck pond near his home.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Wimmer of Erie.

These are the first sets of triplet lambs, Mr. and Mrs. Gleghorn have ever heard of. Twins have been quite common among the ewes on their farm. Mrs. Gleghorn finds it necessary to feed some of the lambs on the farm, with a bottle.

Reveal Threats Made Against King Michael

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—The state department disclosed today that it has received reports of a death threat directed against ex-King Michael of Romania and is "taking measures" to assure his safety while in the United States.

There was no immediate indication of the nature of the assassination threats.

However, Michael, who has been in Washington since last Sunday, is known to be under a special guard of crack capital detectives.

Peyton Case To Reach Jury Today

PITTSBURGH, March 26.—(INS)—Prosecutor William H. Colvin makes his final summation today and then the Peyton case will be handed over to the jury after final instructions from Judge William H. McNaugher.

Yesterday Defense Attorney Charles Margiotti delivered an emotional five-and-a-half-hour speech in behalf of night club owner Charles Peyton, who is accused of fatally shooting his wife, Mary, last June 26.

In his address Margiotti left nothing untouched as point by point he sought to disprove the state's charges. However, the full force of his wrath descended on Evelyn Kapeluck, sister of the slain woman.

He called her a "wicked woman" and said she brought about the prosecution of the case to vindicate her feelings. He also hammered away at the testimony of 11-year-old Pat Peyton, son of the involved couple.

Finnish-Soviet Discussions Start

Truman Acts To Halt Export Of Plane Engines

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—President Truman acted decisively today to halt export of aircraft engines and other potential military equipment by classifying all such articles as implements of war.

The chief executive signed a proclamation greatly broadening the previous listing of materials subject to government export control as articles vital to the nation's own defenses.

The presidential action not only places aircraft and component parts under strict export control but

Panama Canal Toll To Be Higher

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—President Truman signed a proclamation today increasing the toll rates for passage of vessels through the Panama canal.

The increase is effective October 1, 1948. The new rates are: $1 per net vessel-ton of each 100 cubic feet of actual earning capacity on merchant vessels, army and navy transports, colliers, hospital ships, supply ships and yachts, when carrying passengers or cargo; 80 cents per net vessel-ton on vessels in ballast without passengers or cargo; 55 cents per ton of displacement on other floating craft, including war ships other than transports, colliers, hospitals ships, and supply ships.

Probing Board In Coal Strike Starts Inquiry

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 26.—A three-man presidential fact-finding board starts an investigation today of the 12-day-old walkout of John L. Lewis' soft coal miners.

First order of business for the board of inquiry is to hold an organization meeting at the Labor department to elect a chairman and determine operating procedure.

Members of the panel are Dr. George W. Taylor, former War Labor board chairman; Mark Ethridge, Louisville publisher, and Federal Circuit Judge Shermon Minton.

May Bring Injunction

After the board makes its report to the White House, probably in a week, Mr. Truman is expected to direct the attorney general to obtain an 80-day court injunction against continuance of the coal strike.

The taking of testimony from the union and the mine owners on the pension dispute which provoked the strike of 400,000 United Mine Workers is expected to get under way immediately.

Key witnesses expected to be called are Lewis and Ezra Van Horn of Cleveland, O., who served as union and industry trustees of the miners' welfare fund. It is from this fund, financed by a ten cents a ton royalty on coal and now containing over thirty million dollars, that pensions would be paid.

Palestine Dead Since November 29 Now Total 2,318

PALESTINE, March 26.—(INS)—Unofficial figures released today say that 2,318 persons have been killed in Palestine hostilities since November 29, when the U.N. General Assembly approved partition.

Official figures place the number of dead at 1,781.

The unofficial figures list those slain as :Arabs, 1,329; Jews, 846; British, 108; and persons of other nationality, 35.

The official list places the number of Arab dead at 879 and the number of Jewish dead at 759, while agreeing with the two other figures.

Both sets of figures list the total wounded at 3,906, including 1,824 Arabs, 1,629 Jews, 275 British, 76 Arab police, 73 Jewish police and 29 persons of other nationality.

DIES OF SHOT

HARRISBURG, March 26.—(INS)—Ernest V. Coffman, 34, of Oil City, a junior accountant on leave of absence from the Public Utility Commission, shot himself in the head today and died in a local hospital.

Coffman, in ill health since last November, used a .38 calibre revolver, according to police.

Congress Fight May Develop On Air Force

TO RESUME DRAFT HEARINGS MONDAY

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 26—Congress headed today into a fight over giving the air force a bigger share of President Truman's new fourteen billion dollar defense budget—the first test of unification policies on Capitol Hill.

The showdown developed as the navy disclosed that submarines believed to be Russian were spotted recently off the west coast.

To Offer Amendment

Sen. Lodge (R) Mass. announced that he will offer an amendment on the Senate floor if necessary to provide funds for a 70-group air force instead of the 55 groups asked by Defense Attorney Forrestal. There are indications that Lodge will have strong backing even if it means adding to the new budget.

Groundwork for the battle was laid before the Senate armed services committee, which received Mr. Truman's new arms program and then recessed its draft-Universal Military Training hearings until Monday.

Bernard Baruch, financier and Whitehouse adviser, novelist Pearl S. Buck, and Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric, will testify on UMT and the draft.

These are the twin issues which brought forth the administration's request for an extra three billion dollars in fiscal 1949 to permit adding 349,500 officers and men to the armed forces. Forrestal and the secretaries of army, navy and air said this is the minimum needed to "avert war."

But before their testimony was completed, it—disclosed that training of UMT inductees would require an additional 180,000 men in the armed services, probably through the draft.

Farmboy In Vermont Tells Story Of Fatal Shooting After Quarrel Over Marbles

BRISTOL, Vt., March 26.—(INS)—A frail seven-year-old farmboy, still dazed, related to police today the story of a quarrel with a playmate over a bag of marbles which resulted in the fatal shooting of his 13-year-old aunt.

The aunt, Katherine P. Carter, who died despite a thirty-mile ambulance dash to Mary Fletcher hospital, Burlington, was shot when she sought to settle the disagreement between the boys.

Shooting Re-enacted

Re-enactment of the shooting was ordered by State's Attorney John T. Conley following a preliminary inquest before Judge Samuel W. Fishman.

William Mitchel, weighing only 43 pounds, was brought from the home of his parents in whose custody he had been released, and brought to the nearby farm home of Cloise Murray, 14, where the shooting occurred.

State Detective Allen J. Chandler came from Burlington to bring William to the Murray home for re-enactment of the tragedy.

Chandler quoted the boy as saying:

"We had a fight and Cloise wouldn't give me any marbles. I wanted my marbles. The gun went off but I didn't mean to hurt Katie, she just got in the way."

But the gals must be up in this style world, and Easter is not far away, when they have to parade in the sun or the shade and it's bright, sixty seven today.

Last fall one third of the new section of the stadium was in use, and the remainder was recently erected.

Steel Production Near Capacity In Pittsburgh Area

PITTSBURGH, March 26.—(INS)—Production at Pittsburgh Steel mills continued today at near capacity as the industry gambled further on the early settlement of the 12-day bituminous coal strike before fuel stockpiles are depleted.

Operations are scheduled to continue unchanged next week, the United States Steel Corp., reported. The only cutback by U. S. Steel so far has been the closing down of one blast furnace at its Carnegie-Illinois Steel works at Duquesne.

Business Drops

A spokesman said, however, that the company expected two blast furnaces will be taken off sometime after midweek at the Carnegie-Illinois works at Youngstown, O., resulting in about a seven per cent reduction in steel output there.

Johns & Laughlin Steel Corp., reported it had no curtailment in sight.

Meanwhile, the mine shutdown sent the Pittsburgh district business index down some 20 per cent last week, according to the University of Pittsburgh Bureau of Business Research.

Fourteen persons were reported by the highway patrol to have been injured at Lenna, but names of the dead and injured were not available.

Near Eufaula, 17-year old Donald Shropshire was killed when the wind blew down his parents' farm home.

Two persons, Commodore Rogers, 77, and Miss Olga Rodgers, 34, were listed as killed in the small community of McClennahan, 3½ miles north of Sallisaw, Okla. Eleven persons injured there were taken to hospitals at Fort Smith, Ark.

Hardest hit was a rural community six miles southeast of Wetumka. The death toll there mounted to eight today with the recovery of an additional body, not immediately identified.

Five of the victims near Wetumka were members of one family.

RENT CONTROL EXTENSION BILL BEFORE TRUMAN

use of a federal emergency court as the final authority on disputes between national and local officials over area-wide rent boosts and decontrol actions.

The bill continues the "voluntary" 15 per cent leasing arrangement of the present law and contains a number of minor relaxations.

These relaxations include decontrol of residential hotels offering special hotel services, decontrol of private rooming houses with not more than two tenants, removal of restrictions on building materials used for recreational facilities. Landlords also are guaranteed against actual loss due to control.

On the other hand, controls are strengthened somewhat by broadened enforcement machinery. The new measure permits the housing expediter to seek injunctions against violators of any part of the bill. Present law permits injunctions only in overcharge cases.

The first year that the five cent air mail was in effect, approximately 78,000,000 lbs. of mail was dispatched. It was inaugurated Oct. 1, 1946.

Deaths Of The Day.

Mrs. W. A. Miller

Mrs. Lucretia Miller, aged 89 years, died Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. W. Wilson, 510 North Liberty street, after an illness of two weeks. She was the widow of W. A. Miller who preceded her in death in June, 1945.

Born November 26, 1858, in Mercer county, she was a daughter of the late William and Nellie Moore McKnight. For a number of years the deceased was a member of the Methodist church at Orangeville, O.

Survivors include four children, Mrs. R. W. Lundy and Mrs. R. W. Wilson, both of New Castle, Frank Miller, Sharpsville, and Mrs. John Adams, Greenville, 11 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Lieut. Merritt Reynolds, Jr., a great-grandson, was killed at Iwo Jima in 1945. Iva Miller, a daughter, preceded her in death in 1892.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday from the L. A. Love funeral home, Sharpsville, Pa., where friends will be received Saturday and Sunday.

Attorney Drake Funeral

Largely attended were the funeral services for the late Attorney Homer C. Drake, of 601 Court street, which were conducted Thursday afternoon from the Offutt funeral home, North Mercer street.

Officiating were: Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, pastor of First Presbyterian church; Dr. J. Paul Graham, pastor of Third U. P. church and Rev. W. J. Holmes, retired Presbyterian minister.

Interment took place in St. Mary's cemetery.

Johnson Funeral Time

Funeral services for Ned Johnson, 817 Fulkerson street, will be conducted Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Second Baptist church with Rev. J. L. McFarland officiating. Interment will take place in Oak Park cemetery.

The body will be returned Saturday morning from the Crunkleton funeral home to the late residence, where friends will be received until Monday at noon. The body will lie in state at the church from noon on Monday until funeral time.

Mr. Johnson was a veteran of World War I.

McFarland Funeral

Funeral services for George E. McFarland, 604 East Long avenue, were conducted Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Cunningham funeral home with Rev. George R. D. Braun and Rev. Robert B. Withers officiating.

During the services two favorite selections of the deceased were sung by Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Petrie, accompanied by Mrs. Robert B. Withers.

Charles Collins, Norman, Wesley, Jack, Gene and Walter McFarland served as pallbearers.

Feather Research Project Ruffles U. S. Scientists

Results Of Project On 'Feather Filling Characteristics Quality' Are Uncertain

By MARTHA KEARNEY

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Feathers are fine on birds or Easter bonnets but they've gotten into the scientists' hair.

The Commerce Department, mumbling through a mouthful of fluff, announced today the results of a research project designed to determine "feather filling characteristics quality."

Speaking tersely and expressively of one method used in a series of experiments, the department noted that it prove "untidy and difficult to perform."

The flurry of experiments were initiated by the quartermaster general's office which fought its way through millions of pounds of pillow stuffing during the war.

Afterward the government decided to experiment "to establish the optimum method for determining the filling power of feather and down mixtures both as a research tool and as an acceptance quality control method."

Four Methods Used

Four methods were used in the feather fact-finding investigation; the inclined plane method, the hydrostatic method, the box method and the zero load method.

It was the hydostatic method which proved to be pretty much of a mess.

Wiping the feathers off its chin, the department awarded the E for efficiency to the box method which involved the exertion of pressure of .0006 pounds per square inch on a two-pound sample of feathers fluffed into a larger container.

This method, the department said, measured the filling power of a given sample of feathers with an accuracy of approximately three percent.

The two pound samples of feathers used in the successful experiments were accurately weighed to plus or minus 0.01 of a pound, fluffed by hand into a small, reinforced cardboard carton and allowed to fall freely.

After a complicated set of measurements were taken the researchers decided that they had the feathers under control.

And if any of the investigators are still showing a slight tendency to moult, they at least go the white feather honorably in the line of duty.

top-ranking defense chiefs, military and civilian, was marked by these developments:

1. Navy Secretary Sullivan declared that submarines which did not belong to "any nation west of the iron curtain" had been spotted off the shores of the United States. A high navy spokesman later said three subs believed to be Russian have been sighted in Pacific waters since January—one several hundred miles off San Francisco, one near the Johnston and Palmyra islands, and one off the Aleutians.

2. Forrestal told the Senators that Russia as yet has neither the knowledge nor capacity to produce the atomic bomb.

3. Sen. Byrd (D) Va., calling for creation of a military expenditures "watch-dog" committee, predicted the defense budget will reach eighteen billion dollars if UMT is enacted. He said it would stay at that figure for the "next eight or ten years."

4. Sen. Gurney (R) S. D., armed services chairman, said Forrestal will recommend a draft law to induct youths from 19 through 25 but register those from 18 to 45 in staggered groups to lighten the burden on draft boards.

5. Air Secretary Symington disclosed that B-29's, by using new refueling techniques, can "bomb any part of Russia and return" to American bases like Alaska, Labador or the Philippines. He stressed, however, that closer bases are needed.

While the service chiefs were testifying, President Truman said that his new overall defense program will be submitted formally to Congress soon. Mr. Truman cut total requests for an additional nine billion dollars to the three billion figure laid down by Forrestal.

ever, compel the American delegate to go through the same motions which proved futile during the four-power confabs on Palestine.

Through Diplomatic Offices

A major part of United States efforts to secure a practical solution is channeled through the diplomatic offices in Washington and London.

There are grounds for assuming that new conversations are underway between the two governments to bring about a change in the British determination to withdraw Holy Land troops before summer.

Despite Britain's repeated contrary declarations, the United States is believed to be urging London once more to leave enough soldiers in Palestine to enable the generaly assembly to apply the temporary trusteeship plan.

By next Wednesday, the security council will tackle the charges brought by Chile against Russia that the latter threatened peace in supporting the recent communist Prague coup.

Indications are that Czech witnesses of the Prague coup—former high government officials—will be on hand to give testimony.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko has foreshadowed a veto of any action the council takes which would indict Russia. He will also veto any United Nations commission appointed to investigate the Czech case on the spot.

TRUMAN ACTS TO HALT EXPORT OF PLANE ENGINES

extends controls to radar and all other electronic equipment developed during and since World War II.

Extends Scope

Mr. Truman's action came amid congressional demands for a halt to shipments of potential war materials to Russia and her satellites. Congressional activity on the matter has included a demand by Sen. Maybank (D) S. C., that U. S. shippers of aircraft to Russia be prosecuted.

The President's order placed all aircraft, aircraft engines, and parts and accessories, whether military or commercial, within the scope of "arms and implements of war" now subject to government control.

Heretofore, only new and secret type military aircraft developments had been under the export control category.

MICHIGAN MAN IS KILLED IN CRASH

WARREN, Pa., March 26.—(INS)—Roland B. Comer, 35, of Farwell, Mich., died last night in Warren of injuries suffered in a traffic accident at nearby Russel.

Pennsylvania state police said Comers' car left the highway on a curve, sideswiped a tree, hit a second tree head on and rebounded against a house.

The car was demolished.

Hoboken, N. J., is evidently adding to its fleet of fire equipment. Two nice looking trucks en route from Chicago to the New Jersey city were attracting a number of East Siders last night as the drivers were attempting to make the truck cabs a bit warmer for driving. Inquiry revealed the destination of the trucks.

A number of East Side youths are violating the city bike ordinance it is discovered by Pa Newc. The boys are operating their wheels in great numbers on some of the side streets of the area after dark minus front or tail lights. Autoists narrowly missed several of the vehicles in traversing the streets in recent evenings. The boys seem unwilling to move the bikes and slow down traffic considerably.

Benches on the Public Square are once more proving attractive to downtowners these warm spring days. Pa Newc hopes that the city streets this coming summer in the downtown area will be the cleanest than for some time. Those frequenting the Diamond park can aid in so doing by using the containers provided for refuse. With the coming sesqui, many visitors will be attracted to the city and New Castle residents should present to them a clean city.

Yesterday was certainly the day the wild geese went over the city. One very large flock flying rather low in V-formation and honking like mad was sighted about 10:15 Thursday morning by Mrs. Harold Good, who lives at the corner of Carlisle street and Northview avenue.

the uneasy calm of Good Friday in Jerusalem. British army forces silenced the sharpshooters by scoring a direct hit on the Arab position with a six-pound shell.

Coincident with the historic procession, a spokesman for the Jewish agency proposed that special arrangements be made so that Jerusalem can be withdrawn permanently from the area of conflict.

His proposal included a suggestion that a special force composed of 10,000 Norwegian and Danish troops now stationed in Germany take over to maintain order in the Holy city.

The spokesman said that information had reached the agency concerning "elaborate" Arab plans to isolate Jerusalem and eventually place it under miiltary control.

SOUR NOTE

NEW YORK, March 25.—Oliver Simms, organist of the Day Star Baptist Church, arrived to find the keyboard cover of his organ had been screwed down by a faction trying to oust him. He got a screw driver, loosened the cover, and played a discord every time the minister tried to speak. Police were called to halt the ensuing scuffle.

Dr. G. Kepler Mills Is Taken By Death

Word was received by Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Frank Burton, this morning of the death of Dr. G. Kepler Mills in his Pittsburgh home. Death was due to a heart attack. He was 43 years of age.

Dr. Mills came to the New Castle school system in September 1946 to integrate the physical education program of the New Castle school system. Previously he had been a professor of physical education in the University of Pittsburgh and prior to that had been at the University of Alabama for ten years.

During the Christmas vacation in 1947 he contracted pneumonia and since then had been confined to his Pittsburgh home. His death came suddenly early this morning. Funeral services will be, held in California, Pa.

"UNEASY LIES THE HEAD——"

Somehow we can't help believe that if President Truman had his choice he would still like to be just a United States Senator from Missouri. As a Senator he was more or less popular with his colleagues, as chairman of the committee investigating war contracts he did a good job. And then Fate dropped him into the vice president's chair, only to move him out a little later to the Presidency.

By now he probably realizes that "uneasy lies the head that wears a crown." For if anyone has a right to be uneasy over his chances of getting a four year lease on the White House it is Mr. Truman.

It is Mr. Truman's unhappy fate to be the target for the dammed up resentment against the New Deal and its vagaries. That resentment would probably have resulted in a change in the administration four years ago save for the war, and Mr. Truman could have stayed in the Senate.

When the tide starts running out against a party or an administration there seldom is any stopping it. And the tide seems to be running against Mr. Truman and the national Democratic party.

His ineptitude in handling the problems of the office are only partially responsible for his present low in national popularity. In addition, some of the things he has done that seemed right have bounced back.

His advocay of a civil rights bill was not much more than a demand for the enforcement of constitutional rights for all people regardless of color. Immediately the South rebelled and what seemed at first to be a synthetic rebellion now seems to have substance. The latest Southern Democrat to desert the ship is Senator Lister Hill of Alabama, a New Deal stalwart since he took office. A week ago he declared for Truman. A day or so ago he recanted and now urges Mr. Truman to not seek the nomination. The gentleman from Alabama seems to have heard from the home folks.

Mr. Truman vetoed the Taft-Hartley Act and accompanied his veto with a sharp criticism of the bill. Yet in order to avoid a strike of atomic bomb workers he has had to use the act, and now has to use it in the coal strike.

Fate seems to have reserved some other sharpest arrows for the President. If the revolt in the Democratic party continues, it is not beyond the realm of possibility that he will be denied the nomination of his party in the June convention.

If this occurs, the election in November will be even easier for the Republican party. Always providing of course that the Republicans nominate an acceptable candidate and formulate a platform that means something.

THIS IS IT

The overwhelming approval which both Senate and House have now given the tax reduction bill is something more than a reflection of the nation's desire for relief from a heavy burden. It is likewise evidence of a deep-seated conviction on the part of the legislative branch of the government that here is the way to bolster the economy for whatever lies ahead.

As the days go by the need of a strong America will become increasingly evident—not only strong in arms but strong in productive resources and capacity. It will need to be an America where men will have the capital and the confidence to invest in new enterprises and in the expansion of present enterprises. Only by freeing some of the funds that now go into the federal Treasury can this status be achieved.

To measure of public sentiment in respect to this matter is is only necessary to consider the voting in the two branches of Congress. The House of Representatives passed a $6,500,000,000 tax reduction bill, 297 to 120. The Senate approved a $4,800,000,000 measure, 78 to 11. The conclusion is unmistakable that the country will not be satisfied unless it is given a substantial degree of tax reduction.

Further attesting the urgency and importance of the program is acceptance by the House of the Senate measure as written, obviating the necessity of time-wasting conference. This ought to be notice enough to President Truman that he is completely out of step with his fellow citizens in his determination to veto any bill that Congress presents to him.

The votes already recorded represent a smashing defeat for the administration. May the votes on the veto be no less decisive.

Pretty soft for Congress—can now blame UMT on Joe Stalin.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

Soviet Russia's firm contention that the Communist turn-over in Czechoslovakia actually represented the will of the people met with strong repudiation in a unique document that came to light today.

It took the form of a letter from a liberal Czechoslovak journalist in Prague describing for the first time in accurate detail how a newly-formed "action committee' eased him out of his job.

Although it passed through the Communist-dominated Czech postal system, the letter showed no signs of having been tampered with.

However—and this may be significant or not—the envelope did not bear the usual stamps with the portrait of President Eduard Benes but less familiar ones with a picture of a Czechoslovak army officer.

Journalist Dismissed

The letter itself discloses that approximately 100 Czech journalists were dismissed from their jobs and expelled from their union when the Communists seized power.

Obviously, none could comment under his own name on what had happened, and the letter quoted one as saying: "I shall not dare to touch a typewritter until I am out of the country."

But the necessarily—anonymous letter writer clearly described the procedure followed.

He said:

"On the evening of Feb. 24, that is the day before the change of government, I returned home from my office to find a registered express letter waiting for me.

"It was from the 'action committee' of my newspaper. It informed me that I had been sent on leave of indefinite duration 'owing to newly-arisen circumstances.

Final Notice

"Three days later an express messenger delivered another letter from the committee. This informed me that my dismissal was final.

"It gave as the reasons for this my 'negative attitude' toward the peoples' democratic regime and detained various charges that I dare not disclose.

'Five days later came the union's notice that I had been expelled from membership. The union said this decision was final and there could be no appeal. This was stated despite the fact that a law of March 27, 1947, governing the status of journalists in Czechoslovakia, stipulates that any expelled member has the right of appeal to the high court.

'So my expulsion from the journalists' union was a clear violation of the law."

One other item is of interest. Dr. Leo Sychrava, 60-year old social democrat, dean of Czech editors, denies that he was arrested, imprisoned or expelled from the union. To questioners he says: "I am on sick leave from my paper."

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

These two newspaper items seem to have nothing in common, yet they both apply to something I have been wanting to talk about for some time.

One item tells about a Connecticut minister who quit his pulpit because his deacons objected to his being a member of the State Legislature.

The deacons claimed that religion and politics don't go together. He maintained that a minister was eminently qualified to take part in his community's political activities.

The other story told of a Massachusetts policeman being startled when he heard the carillon bells of a church playing "The St. Louis Blues."

He arrested the organist, who later drew a year's probation for intoxication.

In going through my notes this morning I came across something I had scribbled on a scrap of paper.

"Why must our churches be locked so much of the time?" it said.

There is, of course, no excuse for an organist being drunk and playing jazz music on the carillon.

But it seems to me that many churches, by their carillons and otherwise could give their townfolk much more joy and inspiration than they do now.

In many cities and in thousands of villages the churches are the most beautiful buildings.

Why confine their use to Sundays and to some occasional church affairs or meetings?

Why not keep them open throughout the week and use them for all worthy purposes?

I firmly believe that religion, to have its full value, should be a seven-day-a-week affair and not just a Sunday-go-to-meeting duty.

I also believe that our men of the cloth should take a more active part in our economic and political life than they do and—to judge by the Massachusetts incident—are permitted to do.

We criticize the countries that don't believe in God and discourage religion.

By the same token, we should encourage any effort and desire on the part of ministers to be not only preachers and theologians but leaders in the community and national affairs of our country.

If all of us lived up to the teachings of our religions there would be no wars and no disagreements.

Isn't it logical then that our ministers, who are teachers and interpreters of our religion, could help to put us on the path to peace and understanding?

If you fight six days a week, you can't have peace on the seventh. Why then not bring a little of Sunday into every day of our lives?

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN REQUESTS AND COMMANDS

Repeatedly I have urged parents not to change requests to commands—in the selfsame situation, of course. A mother has just written me to ask why. Answer: So you can win the child's co-operation and avoid stubbornness.

Suppose you request a child two or four to do something and he doesn't choose to do it and then you say, "You must". Suppose you make several such shifts in the same breath over a short period. Then how is he to take you at your word? Won't all requests come to mean commands to him pretty soon? Then if you always command the young child to do what you want him to do, barring routines, you will surely stir up needless stubbornness in him.

A Request

A grandmother writes: "Yesterday at lunch my daughter requested her son four years old to pick up the napkin he had just thrown down and he absolutely would not. She slapped him and took him out of the room. Soon he was back but he did not pick up the napkin." And he probably would not have done so if she had beaten him to death. However, the next time she told him to do something similar he might have been more ready to obey, though we cannot be sure. If he had it would have happened at unnecessary cost and would have rendered him less ready to comply with her request or suggestion.

What should the mother have done? She should have been honest and have remembered it was a request she made. But the child did not comply. What of it? Since it was a request it implied that the child should choose. He did. What was there for her to be angry about? What occasion was there for punishment? He almost surely had complied cheerfully if in all earlier situations a request was really a request and not a command in a request. Not only should she have tried to be wholly honest but she should have been thinking of preparing him to co-operate in the future.

Dont Lie to Child

Whether the child is two, four, fifteen, forty or eighty, don't lie to him when you make a request of him. In other words, don't shift immediately from a request to a command.

With the child under four or five it is a good rule to make only requests when you want him to do something for you, barring routine matters, of course. An older child may need to have a few positive commands backed up with force. He may have had enough experience to profit from punishment for making him do a few assigned jobs, for example. Yet, with such exceptions, it is well to avoid making many positive suggestions, instead. There is a world of difference. Always a few negative commands will be necessary, even for a child one or two. If for example a tot two or three were deliberately kicking you in the shins or torturing the dog, you would tell him to stop and if he didn't, give him instant pain. But if you wanted him to pick up something from the floor you would calmly ask him to do so and let him choose, knowing that with practice in this direction in an atmosphere of love and understanding he would almost surely comply.

Hints On Etiquette

Don't forget to have a glass and thermos pitcher put beside the bed in your guest room, so that your house guest may not go thirsty through the night.

"Phooey On The A-Bomb!"

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

What Happens To Defense Billions?

WASHINGTON, March 26. — Members of the Senate Armed Services committee listened with solemn and growing concern to Secretary of State George C. Marshall as he explained why the world situation called for the draft and universal military training. Most of the members came away convinced, and they will carry their conviction to the floor of the Senate.

Doubt Leadership

But at the same time many of these members harbor serious doubts about the efficiency of the leadership of the armed services. What is especially disturbing is the fact that there is so little readiness for the present emergency. The Pentagon seems to be as completely taken by surprise as the average citizen.

A draft bill was not ready for presentation to Congress. It has been necessary to improvise one while Congress waits. In terms of action on the program, this is not serious. It is, however, a serious reflection on the preparedness of the armed services.

The war in Europe has been over for nearly three years. Yet there is no evidence that anyone has made any over-all manpower studies to show how the human resources of the nation can be most effectively and intelligently used in an emergency. Such a general and comprehensive study is necessary if the blunders and mistakes of the past are to be avoided.

Draft policy in World War II took no account of the real demands of total war. It was an old-fashioned seine that scooped up men wholesale without regard to the effect on science and scientific training and the nation's all-important technology.

Throughout the war, leading scientists repeatedly sought to bring about a change in this policy. They understood how deep were the inroads being made in the nation's basic research and, even more important, in scientific training.

But they got nowhere. Contrary to the policy in every other country, the teaching of science was brought virtually to a standstill in the United States. A four-year gap now remains to be made up.

Still in charge of the Office of Selective Service Records is Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, who was responsible for World War II draft policy. This time, however, members of Congress are likely to scrutinize the bill more closely to try to prevent the kind of mistakes that were made before.

Doubts Expressed

This is merely one of the doubts that members of the Senate Armed Services committee are expressing among themselves, and without regard to party. They are wondering why the services were not immediately ready with a statement on their exact manpower needs when the President made his call for a draft.

Puzzling, too, to the committee is the fact of an off-the-record meeting with Secretary Marshall two weeks earlier. At that time he was asked about the possibility that a new draft would be necessary. Marshall brushed the question aside as though such a possibility would never occur.

Doubts such as these were behind the demand of Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon and others for more facts. They believe that, in order to vote for a revival of the draft, they must have more specific information to make the case for the folks back home. Mail is running approximately 9 to 1 against a renewal of the draft.

What Is Happening?

If Secretary Marshall can describe our military establishment as a "hollow shell," then, senators are asking, what is happening to the $11,000,000,000 currently being

GOOD FRIDAY

Thinking best to please the throng
Pilate turned Barabbas free;
Sentenced Him, who'd done no wrong,
Crucified that day to be.

Fled Barabbas from his cell
Back into his life of shame.
All that history has to tell
Of Barabbas is his name.

Where he went, no record shows.
How he used that gift of years
Pilate proffered, no one knows.
Word of him no more appears.

He who trudged that dreary road
And the cross to Calvary bore,
Braved the hurt of spear and goad,
Lives and will forevermore.

Jobs Upon A Time

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Presba Anderson hails from Centerville, S. D. He attended Dakota Wesleyan university and the University of Michigan. His first jobs were as newspaper reporter and editor in Albuquerque, N. M., from 1918-22. Anderson was a member of the 77th and 79th United States Congress (1941-47) as congressman-at-large from New Mexico, and has been secretary of agriculture since June 30, 1945.

Oscar Greeley Clendening Hammerstein (Oscar II), lyric writer and producer of musical comedies, received no encouragement to go into show business. His father, Oscar I, had lost fortunes trying to produce operas and he had no mind that his son should follow in his steps. At Columbia university Oscar II wrote varsity shows.

Connecticut's Motor Clinic

By PAUL GALLICO

May this department extend its heartiest congratulations to the Connecticut State Department of Motor Vehicles on he clinic it has been conducting into the causes behind chronic bad drivers and violators of the motor laws?

One hundred persons with bad traffic records, as well as a hundred drivers who have tooled their cars hundreds of thousands of miles without an accident or brush of any sort, have agreed to a series of physical, clinical and psychological tests which have been going on for the past weeks and the results of which will shortly be made public. From this survey may come conclusions that will help to save thousands of lives annually and make the highways reasonably safe for travel.

New Jersey Has Excellent Law

My own State of New Jersey has an excellent law which compels you to bring your jalopy into a checking station twice a year where it is examined for just the kind of defects that cause accidents. Lights and brakes are tested, alignment of front wheels, steering apparatus and connections. When yiu leave the station with the official okay and windshield sticker, you may be sure that you car is in shape to be on the road without menacing life and limb. But what about the mechanism of the guy who is driving the juggernaut? It is here that Connecticut has taken such a great stride forward.

I am on the road and driving, or rather on a motor tour, as I write this, driving three and four hundred miles a day, and so the Connecticut experiment hits home. For I find motor touring a great strain, nerve-wracking in two ways. There is myself to be controlled and kept constantly alert so as not to endanger others, and there is the strain of the distrust and worry about the fellow approaching in the other car. Who is he? What are his reactions? Is his mind on his driving? What is he likely to do? And not only the chap coming head on, but the one in front of me going my direction and the one behind me who is overtaking me.

Wonder About Other Drivers

I have often wondered whether other drivers have the same apprehensions, and fix themselves into the same psychological frame of mind as mine, or whether they just drive with no thought of the terrible hazards connected with throwing a heavy car along a crowded turnpike at fifty or fifty-five miles an hour.

Years ago I learned how to fly an aeroplane and took flying lessons from Swanee Taylor, then one of the best teachers in the business. And he taught me and trained me into the following frame of mind on cross-country flights: At every instant of the passage in the air, he prepared for the motor to quit; always have a landing field picked out every inch of the way. In other words, never be unprepared for the accident. Automatically, as one flew along, one selected fields within gliding range for an emergency landing.

This habit remained with me and was transferred to my automobile driving to the extent that every other car on the road, particularly those approaching me at a high rate of speed, are considered potential accidents until they have passed.

Maybe It's Cockeyed

Maybe it's cockeyed and a waste of energy, but each such car is considered a problem and I pick myself my landing field, or rather the spot on the side of the road where I will go if the fellow in the other car acts up or loses control. If I see that our rate of speed will bring us together on a bridge or a culvert, I slow down because I don't want to be trapped in a narrow space with someone about whose driving and reactions I know nothing.

This is probably the Caspar Milquetoast approach, but I would feel happier on the road if I thought the other fellow was as wary of me as I am of him. I will be curious to hear what the Connecticut tests show about the sense of responsibility of the bad driver. For unless a man has a well developed sense of responsibility and an appreciation of the engine he is manipulating on the public highway, he should not be granted a license to drive.

State Police Say:—

Discard those murderous beliefs.

The "Price of Progress" concept. Those who talk of progress and its inevitable price seldom know the meaning of progress. True, accidents have risen since the motor vehicle has taken a leading role in our lives. But, only about one-fifth of the fatal motor vehicle accidents can be attributed to mechanical failure. No, the blame is not an scientific advancement. The blame is mainly on human failure. That can be corrected—By You.

The World and the Mud Puddles

TWENTY-FOURTH OF NEW YORK

While it would be foolish to exaggerate the surprise victory of the Wallace-backed candidate for Congress in the New York Twenty-fourth District, it would be equally foolish to attempt to minimize it. The issue was clear cut. Such Democratic stars as Mayor O'Dwyer and Eleanor Roosevelt supported the Democratic nominee, Propper. When the Wallace nominee, Isaacson, gathers fifty-six per cent of the vote cast—more than the Democratic, Liberal and Republican nominees combined—it hardly can be called an empty triumph.

Two factors tend to discount the Wallace showing to some extent. One is the small vote cast at the election, 40,597 out of a registration of 90,000. Another is that this Bronx District, hardly can be called a representative district, as its population comprises a large element of Communists, American Laborites and other radical groups. Although the American Labor Party has been reported "split" on the question of Wallace and his third party, it is apparent that its members gave Isaacson strong support.

Never Serous Factor

Republicans have never been a serious factor in the Twenty-fourth District and their extremely small showing causes no surprise. As a matter of fact, Republican leaders seem to regard Isaacson's victory as a hopeful sign that the extreme factions in New York, heretofore tied in closely with the New Deal during Roosevelt's long tenure, will desert Mr. Truman, in sufficient numbers, to place the State definitely in the G.O.P. column this fall.

One natural result of the election will be to give a strong impetus to Wallace's campaign, with the possibility that the two major labor organizations, the C.I.O. and the A.F.L., will be unable to prevent the flocking of their members to the third party plan. Another conclusion seems to be that, so far as President Truman's recent many efforts to appease the

Newly Developed Aircraft Engine Faces Production

New Engine Will Increase Bombing Range Of Jet Planes Fivefold, Report

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS)—The U. S. air force indicated today it is about to put into mass production a secretly developed aircraft engine capable of increasing the bombing range of jet planes fivefold.

The 8,000-horsepower engine, known officially as the XJ-37 turboset, will be put into production at the large Curtiss-Wright Aeronautical Corp. plant at Woodridge, N. J.

The XJ-37 jet engine was designed in the closing months of World War II by Nathan C. Price. The strategic value of the jet engine is expected to place aerial warfare on an entirely new level.

Low On Fuel

Key to the XJ-37's performance is its spectacularly low fuel consumption. Engineers reported this was due to the craft's "high degree of thermal efficiency".

Previously develop jet engines, furnishing speeds of from 500 to 600 miles per hour, were limited to an 800-mile bombing range on account of their rapid fuel consumption ,while B-36 bombers using reciprocating engines have an operation radius of at least 3,700 miles. A conservative air force estimate is that the XJ-37 engine will be able to at least match the B-36 range with a much greater air speed.

W. C. T. U. AND L. T. L.

County Executive Meeting

Lawrence County W. C. T. U. executive committee gathered Thursday afternoon in the Y.W. C.A. with a large number in attendance. Mrs. F. J. Fox, president, opened with prayer. Mrs. Scott Munnell, spiritual life director, read the Easter story and offered prayer. A season of prayer, in which all took part, was offered concerning world conditions.

Lawrence County now has 903 W. C. T. U. members, one life line union, 18 holdfast unions and ten fruitful unions. Central Union has contributed one child life membership. Mae McConaghy will be a delegate to the School of Alcoholic Studies at Juniata College this summer. A W. C. T. U. institute will be conducted April 8, at Liberty Grange hall.

Mrs. Fox read a telegram from Francis J. Myer, U. S .Senator from Pennsylvania. Senator Myers thinks that all distilling of alcoholic drinks in this country should be stopped at once, as the need of grain for other purposes is critical: Liquor and gasoline are sold at the same place in half of the U. S. The A. A. A. vigorously condemns the selling of liquor at gasoline filling stations or the selling of gasoline at establishments whose main purpose is the sale of liquor. Mrs. Clair Boyer offered the closing prayer.

Report Chinese Reds March To Peiping District

LONDON, March 26.—(INS)—A Reuter dispatch from Shanghai reported that Chinese Communists have swept on in their march from Mongolia to a point thirty miles north of Peiping.

The dispatch said that Communist troops have taken Kweisui and Kwanglin now are surrounding Tatung and Kalgan.

Fifty thousand troops are said to be marshalled in the Communist force for the all-out assault anticipated shortly.

North of Peiping, the dispatch said, there is fierce fighting at a rail station only thirty miles from the city.

In another prong of their drive, Communist troops were said to have taken Feiching, south of Tsinan.

Shanghai civic leaders, alarmed by the Communist gains, have cabled President Truman appealing for quick financial and military aid.

Church Crowded At Communion Service

At the First Congregational church, Thursday evening, the church was crowded at the special communion service. A class of thirty was received into the membership of the church.

The pastor, Rev. T. J. Jones' class, was a particular feature of the service, the members having received instruction for the past four years. It was a beautiful sight as they knelt at the altar to receive the vows, robed in white. They were Jack Hoyland, Charles Dietrich, Lynda Leyde, Arlene MacDonald, Ann Richards, Barbara Lee Davies, Carol Lloyd, Mary Lou Thomas, Peggy McKinley, Shirley McKinley, Mary Eileen Moncrief. Other members of the group were adults.

Mrs. Hannah Bluedorn gave a vocal solo, "He Died of a Broken Heart". Attendance at the service exceeded that of many years.

Pitt Professor Gets Appointment

HARRISBURG, March 26—(INS)—Dr. John W. Oliver, head of the University of Pittsburgh's history department, was appointed today by Gov. James H. Duff to the state historical and museum commission.

Oliver will occupy the post held by Gov. Duff prior to his inauguration and will represent southwestern Pennsylvania. He is a member of the Point Park committee in Pittsburgh, serving as chairman of a sub-committee of the Point's historical significance.

The commission appointment carries no salary, but provides expenses.

The nine-member agency is headed by Charles Biddle of Philadelphia.

Youth Is Charged With Girl's Murder

Young Michigan High School Girl Dies Of Bullet Wound In Her Chest

MARSHALL, Mich., March 26.—(INS)—Calhoun County Sheriff Fred Hollingsworth today signed a warrant charging 20-year-old Earl Kent with the murder of his 16-year-old sweetheart, Glavian Watkins.

The young high school student was found dying in the yard of her farm home, near Union City, Mich., Wednesday night. She died several hours later of a bullet wound in her chest.

The girl's suitor, 20-year-old Earl Kent, has been held without charge while police checked the possibility that she shot herself after a lover's quarrel. The girl, Flavian Watkins, died in a Coldwater, Mich., hospital of a wound in the chest.

Sgt. Leroy Smith, of the state police, said only one small powder stain was found on the third finger of the girl's left hand.

He declared the stain could have come from contact with the wound, and added the absence of further stains indicated she had not fired the gun.

Calhoun county authorities earlier said they would charge Kent with the girl's death if state police tests proved conclusively she had not fired the gun.

Business Shows Slight Decrease

PITTSBURGH, March 26—(INS)—The general business index in Pittsburgh was down some 20 per cent last week, the University of Pittsburgh Bureau of Business Research reported today.

The coal strike was blamed for the drop in the business index to 178.2 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

However, department stores showed gross sales 10 per cent greater for a similar four week period last year.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A pleasant birthday celebration honored Arlene Recheck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Recheck of the Ellwood Road, Mar. 20. Marking the ninth birthday for Arlene, a group of 40 children and relatives attended the party. Games were enjoyed during the hour with a lovely prize going to Judy Lawrence. A dainty lunch was served with two large birthday cakes centering the gaily decorated table. Mrs. Sally Smolenski, Mrs. Agnes Recheck, aunts of Arlene, aided Mrs. Recheck in serving the lunch. Pictures were taken of the group in the afternoon and every child present received a gift to remember the occasion. Arlene was the recipient of many useful and lovely gifts.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Helen Cassella entertained a group of eleven children in honor of her daughter, Barbara's fifth birthday, March 18. The children enjoyed a peanut hunt and other games. Barbara received many gifts. Mrs. Cassella was aided by Mrs. Charlotte Seeger, and Mrs. Ruth Rosenholm of Volant, in serving the lunch. The table was centered with a large birthday cake with five candles and decorations were carried out pertaining to Easter.

PAYS FINES OF $41,000

KANSAS CITY, Kans., March 26—(INS)—Safeway Stores, Inc., of Maryland, two subsidiaries and three top officials of the firm pleaded no defense to government anti-trust charges today and paid fines totalling $41,000 in U. S. District Court at Kansas City.

Two counts of violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act charged to 10 other officials of the company were dismissed with prejudice.

The defendants entered nolo contendere pleas in a surprise compromise worked out with government attorneys to end an action that had dragged out over five years.

Newspaper At Harrisburg To Quit Saturday

HARRISBURG, March 26.—(INS)—Suspension of the 117-year-old Harrisburg Telegraph, effective tomorrow, was announced today by Publisher A. H. Stackpole.

In a front page announcement, Stackpole explained that "sustaining operation is difficult if not impossible" because of rising costs.

The Harrisburg Patriot and Evening News has acquired the right to the Telegraph's name, he said.

The Republican-minded Telegraph was purchased several months ago by Samuel I. Newhouse, Newark publisher.

The suspension will leave Harrisburg with the Evening News and the Morning Patriot, both published by Edwin F. Russell, formerly associated with Newhouse on the Newark Star-Ledger.

Cancer Society To Meet In Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, March 26.—(INS)—County leaders of the Pennsylvania Division of the American Cancer Society will meet at Harrisburg Monday to map final plans for the organization's 1948 fund-raising campaign.

The Pennsylvania division will open its annual campaign April 1 to raise $830,000 for expansion of its program of cancer education, service and research. The fund drive will be under the direction of Gwilym A. Price, of Pittsburgh, president of Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Japan's Post-War Purge Program Near Conclusion

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO, March 26.—Post-war Japan's purge program is drawing to a close after having driven yearly 200,000 Japanese ultra-Nationalists out of government and private offices.

The Japanese government announced today that the formal purge agencies will be dissolved May 10th. Their powers will be transferred nationally to the prime minister and locally to the prefectural (provincial) governors.

The announcement stated the decision was based on the belief that "almost all the purges have been completed."

Japanese figures submitted to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's occupatoin headquarters showed 196,399 persons have been removed or barred from public offices or policy making posts in important business enterprises during the two-year purge.

Approximately Correct

An Allied headquarters official said the figures still must be checked are not regarded as final, but are approximately correct.

At the same time, headquarters released a letter written February 27th to the adjutant general's office in Washington, stating:

"At various stages of this (purge) operation, fears have been expressed in certain quarters that the removal of important individuals from the economy would adversely affect the operating efficiency of business concerns, retard economic recovery and increase the burden on the taxpayers of the United States.

"Statistics of production and trade during the last six months have failed to bear out this fear.

"In fact, evidence has come to the attention of this headquarters that the removal of old leaders has, by permitting younger and more vigorous executives to assume more important positions, created a healthier and sounder base for the future Japanese economy."

Purge Reports

Purge officials told International News Service that out of 1,897 men barred from Japan's economy only 486 were actually removed from business positions. The rest already were out by resignation or the collapse of their war industries.

Military careerists formed the largest single group purged. They totalled 109,991.

Another 35,099 persons were purged for affiliation with the Jingoistic Imperial Rule Assistance Association, while 3,175 were ousted or barred from positions of trust because of membership in other ultra-Nationalist, Militaristic or Terroristic organizations.

Fifty-six were purged because they had governed Japanese-occupied areas, and 38,590 were banished from public or private posts for having taken leading roles in Japanese ex-servicemen's societies.

WASHINGTON CALLING

spent by the three services? In terms of what America has spent in peacetime before, this is a prodigious sum.

Dismantling the military apparatus of World War II—putting a large part of the Navy in mothball, for example—was a very costly process. But in spite of this cost, members of the committee feel that the nation should be getting more than a "hollow shell" for $11,000,000,000.

Criticism tends to skip over Secretary of Defense James Forrestal, who is not held accountable for administrative detail. The three service secretaries, Kenneth Royall for the Army, John L. Sullivan for the Navy and W. Stuart Symington for the air force, get the brunt of it. Their presentation, or lack of it, brought caustic criticism from committee members. All this has stirred talk of the need for a watchdog committee which would concentrate far more closely on what is happening to defense billions. This is rapidly becoming a familiar pattern—a committee to look over the executive's shoulder. And here at least such a committee seems to be called for.

Chinese Bandit Wants To Join With U. S. Army

WINDSOR, Ontario. — (INS)— Rev. Armand Jacques, Maryknoll missioner and pastor of a notorious bandit territory in Manchuria for many years, recently received a letter from a former gun-totin' outlaw whose vocation for many years had been distributing headaches to the occupying Japanese. The bandit wrote to Father Armand's Windsor, Ontario home. He said:

"Dear Father, I heard that you had gone back to America. It is so many years since I have not seen you. Remember when I stole into the concentration camp at Su Ping Kai to have a talk with you?

Would Like To Join U. S. Army

"I think I'd like to join up with the American Army. You know what I can do on horseback, and you also know my shooting eye. Put in a good word for me, Father. Ever, with endless affection and fathomless esteem, Wang Pao San."

Father Jacques had many encounters with Manchurian bandits but always managed to remain on good terms with them. As a result he protected his village from many bandit attacks, and many bandits and their families were converted and received into the Church.

Good Taste

WHAT SHOULD BRIDESMAIDS WEAR

"At my forthcoming wedding, I plan to wear white satin. What material and colors would be right for my bridal party? My sister, as maid-of-honor wants to wear blue. What would be best for their heads—flowers or hats? Who brings the bridesmaids to my house? Am I to send someone to get them? Do they come in gowns? I work in an office as does my fiance. There are four girls and four married men. I will invite all to the church. Are individual invitations necessary? Should I send individual invitations to their homes?"

Answer: For your bridesmaids, I suggest taffeta or faille. Rose-pink would be attractive with your maid-of-honor's blue. For their heads: Matching Juliet caps with matching shoulder-length veils. The bridesmaids and the maid-of-honor should be sent for and brought to the bride's house in an automobile supplied by the bride's family. They should arrive at the bride's house all dressed and ready for the ceremony about a half hour or more before the time set for the ceremony and they go from the bride's house to the church.

Send individual invitations to all guests including members of your office force. Send invitations to their homes and not to the offices. You must invite also the wives of the married men. Preferably send individual invitations to the ceremony only to all those to be thus invited.

Question: I have always thought the tissue paper placed in invitations, announcements, etc., was for the purpose of keeping the ink from smearing when not quite dry and should be removed before mailing. However, I have received numerous invitations lately from prominent friends with the tissue inclosed. Pleace advise me.

Answer: You are correct. The tissue paper is inserted to keep the ink from smearing. When invitations and announcements are ready for mailing, the ink should be dry and the tissues removed. It is not, however, any great error to leave them inclosed.

AS STILL AS A MOUSE

Destructive pests usually go about their injurious work without much fuss and noise.

Mice and worms and bugs and rats and germs do not make much noise.

They are dangerous just the same. Mice and rats destroy an enormous amount of valuable things.

The only way a person can protest his valuables from rodents is to have his building rat proof.

To make a building rat proof, all the different parts must be considered. Walls, foundations, doors and windows must be looked after.

Rats are plentiful. They are watching all the time. They do not make much noise but they do a lot of damage.

Seven Are Dead After Tornado In Oklahoma

WETUMKA, Okla., March 26.—(INS)—Seven persons, including five members of one family, were killed when a tornado ripped through a farming community six miles southeast of Wetumka last night.

Six persons injured in the storm were taken to a hospital at Holdenville, Okla.

Charred Bodies Found

Their charred bodies were found in the ruins after the fire had been extinguished. They were Harris, his wife and three of their children.

Another child, Marie Harris, 10, was critically burned.

The two other persons killed by the storm were Mrs. Woodrow Stringfellow and her six-months-old baby. The husband and father was critically injured.

Their home was the first demolished by the tornado. In addition to the Stringfellow and Harris homes two other farm houses were destroyed in the Greasy Creek area.

The tornado struck about 10 o'clock last night.

Between 15 and 20 persons were reported injured, but only six were hospitalized.

Duff Postpones Execution For Negro Murderer

Unprecedented Action By Governor Duff In Behalf Of Slayer Of Negress In Bar Room

HARRISBURG, March 26—(INS)—A Philadelphia Negro murderer scheduled to die the day after Easter had an unsolicited champion today in Gov. James H. Duff who postponed the execution until May 3.

The governor, whose action on his own motion was believed unprecedented in Pennsylvania, said he was interested in the case of Grant Holley, convicted of first degree murder in the shooting of a woman bar patron, because of "the very sketchy history of this crime."

Duff announced he will ask the pardons board to examine the case during its April session for possible evidence that would warrant a reduction from death to a life sentence. No recommendation will be made to the board, he added.

Shot Through Door

The shooting occurred July 5, 1946 during an argument over payment for drinks in a Philadelphia saloon, the governor explained. Insults flew. Holley whipped out a gun and shot a couple of people, not fatally, and backed out the door, Duff added.

After he reached the street, he shot through the door. The bullet struck and killed Ella Wiggins, a Philadelphia Negress, according to Duff.

"There isn't any doubt about his technical guilt under the law and as found by the supreme court," the governor asserted. "But on reading the testimony at the time that I fixed the date of execution, I made up my mind the case ought to be considered by the pardons board."

Duff said there was no indication that Holley intended to kill when he entered the barroom. The "casual way in which the murder took place" indicated pardon board consideration was necessary, he added.

State Commander Of VFW Demands Congress Action

HARRISBURG, March 26—(INS)—State Commander Frank C. Hilton of the Veterans of Foreign Wars today declared that congressional "dilly dallying" on national security should halt "before it is too late"

Hilton, upon return from a three-day conference of the VFW national legislative committee in Washington, explained that the VFW gave strong endorsement to the proposal for a temporary limited draft.

"Under existing circumstances, we cannot avoid a temporary enactment of a limited draft and a long-range program of universal military training in order to meet the basic needs of our armed forces," he said.

"Congress had debated the matter of national security long enough. Their dilly-dallying tactics must now come to a sharp halt."

Two U. S. Freighters Arrive In Turkey

ISTANBUL, March 26.—(INS)—Two 10,000-ton American freighters arrived in Istanbul today with vehicles and military supplies provided for in the U. S. aid to Turkey program.

A consignment of fighter planes arrived from Frankfurt for transshipment to Ankara.

Reports said that 250 United States experts will come to Turkey soon to cooperate in reorganization of the Turkish air force.

Partial View of Haney's Modern Floor

You see here two partial views of Haney's spacious and streamlined Fourth Floor of Modern Styles in Furniture. Haney's has spared no effort and no expense in giving New Castle the largest, and most beautiful in background, as well as the finest and widest selection of modern furniture. Over 10,000 square feet of floor space, designed masterfully by World-Famous Architect Bach, have been filled with living room, dining room and bedroom suites in modern styles, arranged in room settings. This arrangement avoids the confusion of mass displays, and helter skelter mixups of period and modern. In this departure from the usual, Haney's has taken the initiative to make your buying easier, and so far as Haney's knows no other store has ever done this in Pennsylvania.

Haney's Always Anticipates Your Needs

Haney's store, merchandise selections and excellent service have long made it Lawrence County's Largest, Finest and Most Friendly Store. To these honors may now be added the fact that we are now Lawrence County's most progressive store, because we are constantly alert to bring you the new, beautiful and most modern.

Seek To Preserve Peace But Make War Preparations

Such Is Advice Of Chairman Of National Security Resources Board

PITTSBURGH, March 26—(INS)—Arthur M. Hill, chairman of the National Security Resources board, said last night that the United States should make every honorable effort to preserve peace but should be ready for war, if it comes.

In an address before the annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Post of the American Ordinance association stated that "under no circumstances can we afford the risk of not being able militarily to support our diplomatic commitments."

Hill also pointed out that while our country is rich in natural resources, it was never intended to be the storehouse of the world. He thought it best to take stock of our situation and make plans and arrangements for other sources of supply while conserving as much of our own as we can.

No Sources Here

He said, "Furthermore, there are many critical and strategic materials of which we have no sources in this country. We hope that arrangements of mutual interest will eventuate through the operations of our State department and through the European recovery program that will channel greater supplies into this country."

Hill, who described himself as a businessman selected for a job, outlined five basic requirements for national security. They are:

1. Pursue a clear, just and honorable foreign policy.
2. Strengthen our armed forces, and thus serve notice on friend or potential enemy that we have the military capabilities to back up our diplomatic commitments. This should be done by following President Truman's recommendations on preparedness.
3. Increase of sources and our stockpiles of critical and strategical material.
4. Encourage in every way new discoveries in this country and this hemisphere of new source of metals and minerals — including petroleum.
5. Mobilize the spiritual resources of all of our people.

Special Session Requests Ignored

HARRISBURG, March 26—(INS)—Demands by minority members of the General Assembly for a special session of the legislature are wasted on Gov. James H. Duff.

Commenting on receipt of "one of their frequent letters" from Democratic State Senators H. Jerome Jaspan, Philadelphia, and Elmer J. Holland, Pittsburgh, Duff declared:

"If there is any need of a special session I'll know about it and will call it myself."

Jaspan and Holland demanded the General Assembly reconvene this year to begin an investigation of the Public Utility Commission, enact a state rent control and legislative reapportionment acts, revise state liquor laws, give counties authority to build colleges and codify the commonwealth's criminal acts.

OIL ON TROUBLED WATERS

Although sailors had known for many years that oil thrown on rough seas caused the waters to calm. It was not until Benjamin Franklin went into the subject that people knew the reason for this. He coincided that the film of oil on the water decreased the friction of the wind on the water's surface.

State tax collections in the United States varied from a high of $34.05 per capita in Washington to a low of $29.54 in Nebraska in 1946.

Top-Secret Committee To Crack Down

Looking Into "War" Shipments To Soviet It Is Disclosed

WASHINGTON, March 26. —(INS)—Creation of a special top-secret committee, with members including military and atomic energy officials, to crack down on shipment of "war potentials" to Russia, was disclosed today.

Government sources revealed the group was set up last month. Members represent the state, agriculture, interior and commerce departments, the office of defense transportation, the national security resources aboard, the armed forces and the atomic energy commission.

Committee members were reported to have asked that their names be kept secret to avoid "too much pressure from exporters".

It was learned that Herbert W. Parisius, commerce department official recently under attack by Reps. O'Konski (R) Wis., and Mundt (R) S. D., is working closely with the group. Parisius, a holdover from Henry Wallace's regime as secretary of commerce, has denied Communist sympathies.

The committee, set up as an "ad hoc" unit of the government's export advisory committee is, declared to have virtually the last word in determining what materials are "war potentials".

Msgr. J. F. Dearden Will Be Elevated To Titular Bishop

Ceremonies To Take Place In St. Agnes Church In Cleveland May 18

CLEVELAND, March 26.—(INS)—Msgr. John F. Dearden will be elevated to titular bishop of sarepta and coadjutor with right of succession to Bishop Hugh C. Boyle of Pittsburgh at ceremonies in St. Agnes' church in Cleveland, May 18.

Archbishop Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States, will consecrate the 40-year-old monsignor, one of the youngest men ever to be raised to the episcopacy of the Catholic church in this country.

Bishop Edward F. Hoban of the Cleveland diocese and auxiliary Bishop Floyd L. Begin of Pittsburgh will serve as co-consecrators. The sermon will be delivered by Bishop Michael J. Ready of Columbus.

Following the consecration rites, the new bishop will be honored at a dinner and reception. The date on which Msgr. Dearden will be received in Pittsburgh by Bishop Boyle has not yet been set.

Catholic War Vets Protest Shipments Of Goods To Russia

JERSEY CITY, N. J., March 26. —(INS)—The Hudson county, N. J., chapter of the Catholic War Veterans today appealed to New Jersey representatives in Congress to halt shipment of war supplies to Russia.

The appeal was signed by Thomas F. Carlin, who urged members of all veterans' organizations to join in a demand for a total embargo and an investigation of who is behind the rush to get material of war to the Soviet.

It was the Hudson county chapter of the CWV that instituted picketing of the Lehigh Valley Railroad's Claremont pier in Jersey City where the freighter Chukotka was being loaded until armed guards were ordered on duty at the rail terminal to screen the shipment from the public.

UNDER FIVE FLAGS

Five different flags have been flown over the State of Florida. From 1559 to 1718 there was the Spanish flag; the French flag from 1718 to 1723; the Spanish again from 1723 to 1763; English from 1763 to 1783; Spanish again from 1783 to 1821; United States from 1821 to 1861; Confederate States from 1861 to 1865; and the U. S. again from 1865 on.

Meat Strike Now In Eleventh Day

CHICAGO, March 26.—(INS)—Leaders of the striking packing-house workers and the "big four" meat packers rallied their forces today for a finish fight in the nation-wide walkout now entering its 11th day.

Both sides opposed government intervention in their wage dispute as the presidential board of inquiry concluded its strike investigation yesterday and started to draft its report which must be delivered to President Truman by April 1.

Industry and union officials agreed that there is no "emergency" necessitating action by President Truman and that meat supplies at present are ample.

Under the national emergency provision of the Taft-Hartley act, Mr. Truman may ask the attorney general to seek an injunction halting the strike for 80 days.

Spokesmen for the packers and the striking union opposed such a move.

Youth For Christ Plans Easter Morn Sunrise Service

New Castle Youth for Christ is planning an outdoor Easter Sunrise service at 6:15 o'clock on Sunday morning to be held on the hillside adjacent to the Calvary Gospel Tabernacle on Vogan street. In case of rain, the service will be transferred indoors to the church auditorium.

The speaker for the early morning service will be Rev. Howard Sartell, with Rev. Oliver Hurst leading the singing. Special music will be provided by Rev. John F. Trader of Jersey City, N. J. a talented musician. Special vocal music will be presented by young people from several churches.

The First Baptist church and Calvary Tabernacle are both joining the youth group in connection with the service. An amplification system will be set up.

IN THE OPEN

I parked the car by the old mill, crossed the sedge flats eding the roadside, and struggled through the berry tangles which choked the long-abandoned haulage road from the timberland beyond the hill. There was evidence that the advancing legions of the surging springtide had passed that way. Massed alders in the fence rows had hung out their catkin battle flags in a colorful display all along the line of march.

I followed the faint tracings of the ancient road along a fence line and through an old quarry. Then the path lost itself in the second growth of trees which cover many acres of this hillside. The afternoon sun, warm as in mid-May, peeked across my self shoulder and bathed the rock ledges across the valley in revealing light.

Flicker Yelps

A flicker yelped from a perch near his sounding board. He had chosen his drum well, and sent an occasional long roll echoing across the hills. Chewinks were scratching among the leaves on that sun-warmed slope. They took occasion to scold vigorously when I put in an appearance. I could hear the warblings of bluebirds, and from their vantage points in the surrounding pastures the meadowlarks were bubbling over into the high clear whistle which is so much a part of the spring countryside.

Those rock ledges are famous locally as popular den-sites for the foxes who roam these back-country hillsides. I had stopped by to let the landowner know of my proposed trespassing. I found him in the barn, grinding corn, and he stopped long enough to tell me of several encounters with the red-coated fellows, who tax him a chicken now and then for setting up his homesite on their hunting grounds.

Hillside Looked "Foxy"

That hillside certainly looked "foxy". There were a few sleek black Angus cattle browsing about. A long-tailed hawk came out of the timber, surveyed the countryside from a tall dead snag, and then caught the 4:15 updraft for the next township.

I picked up a nice flat stone and placed it for a seat at the base of a wide fence post. Here I sprawled at ease, alone on that lazy hillside, and watched those distant ledges for perhaps a half-hour. Juncoes were busy in the trees behind me, probably about their plans for the trek to nesting grounds farther north. A whole gang of robins moved across the slope, very evidently migrating male birds taking their ease before the night's serious traveling.

Of Mr. or Mrs. Reynard I got nary a glimpse. The spring peepers set up a howl in the marshy area just at the edge of the woods, and the flicker lost interest in his drumming and moved down to investigate an ant hill. I thought he was rushing the ant season, but he stayed about for some time, and evidently knew what he was doing.

Patience Gave Out

Finally my patience gave out and headed back through the timber, following an easy path alongside the racing brook which drains this woodland. The trail led through a butternut grove and then onto a clearing where an ancient log cabin has now fallen to ruins. Here I turned back to a towering rock outcrop heavily posted with the polypody fern. I climbed out on this promontory and watched the woods for some time.

A squirrel barked in the distance and from somewhere out there in that sea of treetops came a peculiar wheezing cry, not loud, and quite evidently the disturbed alarm note of a large bird, probably one of the hawks. I tried to mark down the location of the odd sound and circled about to keep the sun at my back, but whoever or whatever had been scolding stayed quietly out of sight.

Fox Not Located

A long line of outcrop boulders marks one level of this deep woodland. I followed along these den-sites, and found no evidence of fur or feathers to show where the fox had taken up residence. The hillside jaunt took me across wide known hereabouts as mountain tea. Many of the edible red berries had hung on through the winter, and added a dash of color to the somber forest floor.

The woods walking in heavy boots proved to be warm work and I was glad to hear the splashing fall of a limestone spring near the edge of the timber. Hard by are the mouldering remains of a settler's cabin. I started to clear out this spring and found underneath the leaves and shale a large basin cut into the solid rock by that long-dead pioneer. Never did Adam's brew taste better!

Trace Acid Pool That Kills Fish

BUTLER, Pa., March 26.—(INS)—A state chemist, Charles Young, testified Thursday that the pollution causing the death of thousands of fish in the Allegheny river last July was directly traceable to an acid pool at the Daugherty refinery near Petrolia.

Young, Meadville district sanitary engineer, has been connected with the state department of health since 1924. Te was the 31st commonwealth witness since the case opened Monday.

He testified that he visited the refinery last July 7.

Judge William Purvis announced court will be held today, even though it is good Friday.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 25. —(INS)—Dorothy Ford failed to collect an Academy "Oscar" last week, but she still is the biggest thing in pictures. And probably the prettiest.

She towers head and shoulders above every actress in Hollywood.

In her bare tooties the glamour gal—king size—rears a majestic six-feet two into the sound stage ozone.

Big and Beautiful

At the moment she is recognized around the film factories as one of Hollywood's brightest stars-to-be. The novelty of being merely "beautiful and big" is wearing off. Movie moguls suddenly have discovered Dorothy can also act.

She would be the happiest actress in the business if the wiseacres would only quit cracking: 'How's the weather up there?"

The blue-eyed brunette started out with ambitions of becoming an air line hostess. But like Topsy, she just grew. There the resemblance ends.

Was Model At First

She first hit Hollywood as a model after graduating from school at Santa Barbara, Cal., in 1940 Billy Rose came along, took one gander at the Ford whistle-stop figure and signed her for his aquacade at the San Francisco World's Fair. Dorothy was the first girl he hired for Rose's fabulous swimming chorus.

Movies were inevitable. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer latched onto the lovely glamazon and collared her with a long-term contract. Her early pictures included "As Thousands Cheer," "Bathing Beauty," "The Thin Man Comes Home" and "Lover Come Back."

Played With Rooney

Maybe you remember "Love Laughs at Andy Hardy," written to order for Dorothy and pint-sized Mickey Rooney. Their jitterbug routine rolled them in the aisles from Portland to Portland.

In "A Miracle Can Happen" she had both Jimmy Stewart and Henry Fonda for her screen boy friends.

Currently she is the movie wife of comedian Ben Blue in "One Sunday Afternoon" at Warner Brothers. They have six kids in the film.

Miss Ford said she would like to have kids of her own some day when the right guy comes along with that ring for the third digit, left paw.

Her husband won't have to be a human skyscraper, either. She said he doesn't even have to wear elevator shoes.

Russia Expected To Resume Parley On Berlin Control

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—The possibility that Russia will resume discussion of the German occupation problem with the western powers arose today after Secretary of State Marshall rebuked Soviet tactics in the allied control council in Berlin.

Dispatches from Berlin quoted a high Soviet official as saying Russia wants to continue control of Germany by the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet, but demands that the control council adhere to the Potsdam decision.

These remarks were attributed to Lieut. Gen. Lukantschenko, chief of staff of the Soviet military administration in Germany, some hours after Marshall made it plain that the United States intends to remain in Berlin.

A Reuters dispatch from Berlin on the Lukantschenko statement said allied circles expect the Russians to ask for a regular meeting of the council March 30.

Poplar trees are forbidden in New York City because their roots go so deep that they can disrupt water and sewage sytems.

Babson Gives His Views About Marshall Plan

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1948, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26.—People ask me, "As a businessman, what do you think the Marshall Plan would mean to American business?" The answer I should like to make is, "As a man, what do you think the plan would mean to humanity?"

Operation Rat Hole

I have read letters to various newspapers written by supposedly intelligent people. They refer to the Marshall Plan as "Operation Rat Hole" and say "we will be pouring our millions down the drain." The suggestion is that the project is hopeless from the start. The writers imply that they would rather keep tight hold of their cash than give it away.

Roger W. Babson

The same people have the impression that the plan is merely an over-sized charity. They fear that we would ship overseas the food which we ourselves might need and would send to Europe money which we could spent at home. Even if this were true, could we, as the world's richest country and as a Christian community wholly refuse to share?

What Is the Marshall Plan

Most of the arguments against the Marshall Plan have been advanced by people who seem to have little idea of what it means. The Marshall Plan is a program for the investment of money and goods, not for Europe's relief, but for her recovery. At preseint, Europe is nearly helpless because she lacks such essentials as food fertilizer, coal, steel and transportation. These were destroyed or used up by the war. They can now be replaced—but not without our help. You, yourself, could not plant a garden if you had neither spade, fertilizer nor seed. You couldn't start a trucking business without a truck, gasoline or money. Nor can Europe.

What the Marshall Plan proposes to provide is the capital for refinancing an old business. That some of the capital will be in the form of tractors and some of it in the form of wheat does not alter the case. European laborers cannot now produce to capacity because they are hungry. When they have full stomachs and are able to work, and when they have tools to work with, there will be coal to run the factories to porduce the steel from which to build the tractors to plow the gardens to feed the workers.

Can We Afford It?

But can be afford the Marshall Plan? Can we part with the 20½ billion dollars which has been estimated as its cost? Can we ship overseas seven or eight per cent of the food we raise? Can we aggravate present shortages by sending steel, fertilizer, railway cars, coal? Can we spare any?

The answer is that we can afford the Marshall Plan because we cannot afford to reject it. What the program would cost us has only been estimated, but what its rejection would cost can scarcely be imagined. There is, of course, no guarantee that this plan will save Europe; but without it western Europe will go down into chaos and Communism. We cannot live alone in the world. We must not give Europe over to the other camp. For the sake of our way of life, for the sake of the institutions which mean most to us, for the sake of our business and our future, we cannot refuse to make the attempt.

Conclusion

As a businessman, then, I think that the Marshall Plan is a good gamble and, what is more, I think that the alternative is a poor gamble. But one thing I insist on. Let's see that after the countries of Europe receive our aid, they get busy and produce. Production is the only lasting solution to their problems or to our problems either.

Name Competitors For School Meet

New Wilmington Contestants Are Named For County Contests Set For April 3

NEW WILMINGTON, March 26.—The high school will be well represented in the Lawrence County High school Forensic and Music meet to be held at Westminster College, Saturday, April 3.

Mary Ann Herbst will compete in the serious oration and Dorothy Foster in the humorous oration. Dorothy Foster is entered in poetry reading and Lotta Veazey is the declamer.

Music contestants are as follows: Trio-Donna Barbe, Martha Reaney and Johanna Herbst.

Octette—Donna Womer, Carol Wilson, Wallace Downs, Robert Whitman, Alice Frew, Joan Thomas, William Barbe and Ralph Buchanan.

Two former Westminster College teachers and their families who now reside at East Lansing, Mich., are visiting local friends. They are Dr. and Mrs. Harold Black and twin daughters, Louise and Lucille, and Dr. and Mrs. Albert Cordray. Both men are teaching at Michigan State.

Members of the junior class at the High school have named Thomas Byler and Delbert Detwiler to serve as heralds at senior commencement exercises.

Mrs. C. H. McFarland of the W.C.T.U. has announced that the following grade school pupils won honors in the poster contest conducted by the society: Robalee Burns and Barbara Gillespie, eighth grade; Marilyn Shelenberger and Thomas McKee, sixth grade; Margaret Edmiston and Esther Polding, fifth grade.

The Nacanna club will meet at the home of Misses Anna and Laura Thompson, 245 East Neshannock avenue, Saturday evening at 8.

Holy Week services at the United Presbyterian church will reach a climax Friday evening when congregations of all local churches will participate in a Union Communion service. The service will start at 8.

Dr. Edwin Lewis, professor of theology at Drew Seminary, will deliver the fifth of a series of sermons.

Communion will be administered by candlelight.

First Christians To Hear Easter Cantata

Combined choirs of the First Christian church, consisting of 45 voices, will present the choral cantataf or Easter "King of Glory," by Morrison, at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening.

The soloists will be, soprano, Miss Lena Mae McConnell; contralto, Mrs. L. P. Friend; tenor, William McCombs; baritone, James Bowman; accompanists, organ, Miss Emma Patton; piano, Miss Margaretta Hess; director, Mrs. R. K. Allen.

The combined choirs will also sing the following numbers on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock: "The Resurrection," "Were You There?" and "They Have Taken Away My Lord."

Gardener Dies In Suicide Plunge

PITTSBURGH, March 26.—(INS)—An elderly man tentatively identified today as Paul Blasko, an iteinerant gardnerer, Thursday, plunged from a bridge to his death on the railroad tracks 100 feet below.

A social security card in his pocket gave his age as 70 and also a street address. Residents of the address, however, told police that Blasko had not lived there for eight years.

A Martin Hayton said he had employed Blasko on his chicken farm near Ligonier until last Monday. He had payed the man off when he complained of not feeling well.

When the territory of Oregon was established in 1848, it included the present states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and portions of Montana.

RELIEF PAYMENTS HIGHER

HARRISBURG, March 26.—(INS)—State Treasurer Ramsey S. Black today announced direct relief payments to needy Pennsylvanians totaled $327,550 during the week ended March 24. Disbursements during the preceding week amounted to $327,092, he added.

The number of Americans per dentist in the United States declined from 2,560 in 1900 to 1,728 in 1930, but increased to 1,865 in 1940.

STATE OFFICES CLOSED

HARRISBURG, March 26.—Commonwealth offices throughout Pennsylvania closed today for Good Friday observance.

Business will be resumed Monday at 8:30 a. m. following the usual week-end recess.

The Witwatersrand in South Africa includes gold reefs over an area 180 miles long, 90 miles wide and about five miles thick. Some mines are nearly two miles deep. About half a billion tons of ore have been worked to extract about 10,000 tons of gold.

Six Of Freighter Crew Are Beaten By Chicago Gang

CHICAGO, March 26.—(INS)—Police guarded the S.S. Jupiter, a 7,000-ton freighter docked in the north branch of the Chicago river, Thursday in an effort to prevent another invasion by a gang which chased 18 crew members to shore and beat six of them.

The gange, estimated at 30 to 40 men armed with clubs, pipes, belaying pins and marlin spikes, remained aboard the vessel for almost two hours Wednesday night.

Capt. George Barnes of the police labor detail said the gang took all food from the tables in the galley and the only two crew members who remained aboard at the time were the second and third mates.

Talking Contract

The attack occurred as representatives of the Jupiter Steamship Company, Inc., of Cleveland, and the CIO National Maritime Union were negotiating in Chicago on a new contract. Capt. Barnes said he believed the gang was made up of union members.

Lee Shaw, attorney for the Morton Salt Company which charters the freighter, said he would seek John Doe warrants for the gang.

Harold McCormick, NMU agent, charged the company hired non-union men to fill posts of union members laid off last spring. He said the ship had been picketed for a week.

INJURED BY AUTO

Florence Segal, age 5 of 615 Wayne avenue, Ellwood City, ran in front of the auto driven by E. F. Scanlon, 307 West Madison avenue, at 11:30 a. m. yesterday when knocked down, sustained lacerations of her nose and head, which were treated by a physician. The accident occurred in the 1200 block of South Mill street.

CITY HALL OFFICES CLOSED

Offices in the city building were closed today because of Good Friday.

Organize Against Used Car Falsity

PITTSBURGH—(INS)—A code of fair play to apply to all used car advertising in an effort to eliminate exaggerations recently went into effect in all Pittsburgh daily newspapers.

The code was adopted after the Better Business Bureau and Pittsburgh's three daily papers made an analysis of the many public complaints involving purchasing of used cars.

G. H. Dennison, manager of the Pittsburgh bureau, said it was prepared "to eliminate causes of all public complaint in the used car field."

The code eliminates such advertising phrases as:

"We Pay More," "Highest Prices," "You Pay Less Here," "New," "Brand New," "New Car Guarantee," and "Never Driven."

The ban on the word "New" will be enforced whenever the car involved has previously been registered. Only advertisements for cars never registered will be accepted under a heading of "New."

Further bans include identification of a used car dealer as "greatest," "largest," "leading," or "foremost."

Any dealer advertising "largest in county," or "largest in city," must offer proof of the claim before the ad will be accepted.

Official Ballot Ready To Print

State Election Bureau Certifies Proper List Of Candidates To Local Board

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

William A. Eakin, chief clerk to the election board of the county, has received his official copy of the names for the ballots to be used April 27. This copy will now go to the printer and the Lawrence county ballots will be prepared.

In size the ballot will be large this time, although the amount of tabulation necessary will not be much, due to the fact there is little competition in either party.

President Harry S. Truman's name is entered upon the ballot by the Democrats and the delegates with a few exceptions are pledged to support the party choice. This means the Democratic delegates will be pledged to President Truman, save for the two or three who are not so pledged. Republican delegates at large and the two candidates for district delegate are unpledged.

Nominations will be made for state treasurer and state auditor-general, congress, state senate, and assemblyman from each of the two districts in the county. But as to tabulation, the only contests are for state senate, both parties, general assemblyman from New Castle, both parties. Of the 63 names on the ballot, only nine will need to be included in the tabulation.

Taft Presses For Vote On Federal Education Bill

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—Senate GOP policy chairman Taft (R) Ohio, pressed today for a final vote Tuesday on his Federal Aid to Education Bill as battles loomed over proposals for allotments to parochial schools and for cutting "rich" states out of the program.

Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., spearheaded the move to bring parochial schools into the program by authorizing aid for them in addition to the 300 million dollars proposed in the Taft bill.

Taft predicted that whatever parochial school amendment is offered will be defeated easily.

He predicted a close vote, however, on the demand by Sen. Millikin (R) Colo., that states which are able to finance satisfactory school systems be given no aid. Under the Taft bill, all states would get at least five dollars per year per pupil.

At the same time, Sen. Hill (D) Ala., called for enactment of the measure as "a Marshall plan for American education."

First Methodist Sunrise Program

Members of First Methodist church will gather in the sanctuary Easter Sunday at 6:30 o'clock for a sunrise service. At that hour a special program of readings and music will be presented by young people of the congregation who are sponsoring the assembly. As a feature of the service the youth choir will offer 'In Joseph's Lovely Garden," by Dickinson.

STUFFED HEART USES BREAD ENDS

A veal or beef heart filled with your favorite stuffing is a good way to use odds and ends of bread. Close the heart with toothpicks and string lacing, brown in fat, and braise just as plain heart. Braising may be done on top of the stove instead of the oven if you have a closely covered pan or kettle.

Because heart is less tender than liver or kidney, braising is the best way to cook it. The broth makes delicious gravy.

CLOTHES RESPOND TO GOOD TREATMENT

Give your clothes the care they deserve and they will give you the wear you demand. You will get more wear from your clothes if you keep them ready to put on and know you look right for the occasion. By practicing day to day care and making repairs as needed, your clothes will always be presentable.

Proper hanging up of garments is important in their day to day care. Hang up outer garments as soon as they are taken off. A padded hanger will hold a dress in shape better than a wire hanger. Check to see that the dress is hanging straight from the hanger. Fasten neck and side closings. Be sure circular skirts are hung so they will hang evenly when removed from the hanger.

Brushing after each wearing helps to keep clothes looking their best. Use a brush for wool and a soft cloth for silk and rayon dresses. Brush the inside as well as the outside of garments. Brush in the direction of the grain of the cloth. Before putting clothes in the closet, allow them to hang a while where the air circulates. Freely.

Making repairs as needed is good common sense. Sew on buttons and snaps and mend rips in seams and hems as soon as noticed.

If you give dresses a rest between wearings, you can save on the pressing. Wrinkles frequently disappear after a garment hangs a while.

PLAIN GROVE

READING CIRCLE

Predicts 200,000 Displaced Persons Will Enter U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—Rep. Fellows (R) Maine, chairman of the House Subcommittee on Immigration, predicted that Congress will enact legislation this session to permit 200,000 displaced persons to come to the United States in the next two years.

Fellows reported that his judiciary subcommittee is making "fine progress" in shaping a bill that will double the number which would be permitted entry under a Senate bill.

A bill recommended by President Truman to bring 400,000 refugees to this country over a four-year period was considered last year but was shelved after members of the committee disagreed sharply over the proposal.

Fellows will wait until the subcommittee works out all disagreements over the legislation before submitting his bill to the House. The group is meeting with authorities from the State Department, Immigration Service and the Army to devise a successful formula for solving the displaced persons problem.

Sunday School Campaign Will End On Easter

Easter is the final Sunday of the eight weeks pre-Easter increase campaign being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association in which 75 Sunday schools are enrolled, and it is anticipated that the attendances will bring to a fitting climax this profitable and successful effort for bigger and better Sunday schools. The other three goals of evangelism, church attendance and Bible study, have also received good emphasis at this pre-Easter season.

There will ge fourteen awards presented to the winners of this campaign at the 110th convention of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association which will be held at the First Presbyterian church, Ellwood City, Thursday, June 10th. The six New Castle groups will each receive an award, and there will also be a New Castle church attendance award. In addition to these seven, each of the seven districts outside of New Castle, will receive awards.

Young Brothers Hunted By Posse At Punxsutawney

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., March 26.—(INS)—A posse of police and neighbors searched woods at nearby Wishaw today for two young brothers believed to be held by kidnapers.

The children are Joseph Gill, 11, and his brother Thomas, 13, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gill.

Mrs. Gill told police she found the house in disorder and the boys missing when she and her husband, both pottery workers, returned home yesterday.

The mother said that while Gill was out looking for the youngsters a masked man appeared at her door last night and said:

"If you want to see your children again, come to the bridge at midnight with $100."

State police surrounded the bridge and Mrs. Gill kept the appointment, but no one appeared to claim the ransom.

Two Small Fires This Morning Here

Firemen answered two alarms for small fires just before noon today, the damage being negligible in both cases, Fire Chief James E. Thomas reports.

At 11:20 a. m. they were called to the Conn welding shop, where welders set fire to some insulation in a truck. Workmen had the blaze out when firemen arrived.

At 11:45 o'clock an alarm from box 115 summoned firemen to 8 Norris Way, where some boys had set fire to some rubbish in the rear of the row of houses at this location.

Thursday afternoon and evening firemen answered eight alarms for grass fires, none of which caused any damage to surrounding property.

Weights, Measures Men Meet Monday

HARRISBURG, March 26. —(INS)—Pennsylvania's inspectors of weights and measures will start five days of schooling Monday at Harrisburg in the state's campaign to curb cheating in sales of food, coal and other merchandise.

The inspectors will take a rapid refresher course in provisions of the law pertaining to their jobs and watch demonstrations on checking scales.

CITY YOUTHS END "BOOT" TRAINING IN U. S. NAVY

Chief Machinist's Mate S. E Bond of the New Castle navy recruiting station announced today the completion of "recruit training" of four New Castle youths: Kenneth Anthony, Harold Lee Callahan, Henry Randall Shuman and Donald Martin Morgan, all of this city.

These four men all enlisted in the naval service in New Castle on December 30, 1947. They have been promoted to seaman second class, USN, and are now home on 12 days leave.

Skulls and other portions of the three-toed horse, and other prehistoric animals have been found near Challis and Salmon, Idaho.

Grass Fires Give Firemen Battles

Brush and grass fires have reached alarming proportions in the past week. Dry weather has been the contributing factor, but carelessness has been the main cause. There have been about 100 grass fires in the city and county during the week. Nine calls were answered yesterday alone.

Seriousness of these fires can be noted from the fact that all the city fire equipment was out on calls at the same time Thursday This leaves the city virtually unprotected.

In many cases the brush fires endanger homes and buildings. Woodland areas are rendered useless by fire, and sections that have long been havens for wildlife have been destroyed. Such was the case in the above picture, when fire destroyed a large section of woods along the Covert Station-Mahoningtown road Thursday afternoon.

Officers Will See How Steel Is Made

PITTSBURGH, March 26.—(INS)—To advance plans for industrial mobilization, high ranking army, navy and air force officers from the Industrial College of the Armed Forces will visit the Latrobe Electric Steel company's plant at Latrobe, Pa., April 9, the company reported today.

The tour is designed to familiarize officers of general staff and technical staff categories with processes and problems of operation in key industrial facilities. It is part of the curriculum of the industrial college.

Economic Warfare

The college conducts a 10-months course in problems of mobilization planning, military supply requirements, procurement, production, manpower and other logic studies.

Its function ts to train high echelon army, navy and air force officers for duty in industrial mobilization and economic warfare.

HOSPITAL ITEMS APPEAL ANNOUNCED THROUGH RED CROSS

Lawrence county chapter of the American Red Cross today stated that there is an urgent need of clothing and other items for Army, Navy and V. A. hospitals in this area.

Organizations who wish to work on sewing and knitting projects to supply these needs are asked to contact the chapter house, North Beaver street, for additional information and the materials.

Items needed include men's and women's bathrobes, bedside bags, cushion covers, wash cloths, pajamas, "beanies", gloves, mufflers, socks and sweaters.

There is also an urgent demand for new and used cotton blankets to be used as medical packs at Deshon and Aspinwall hospitals, it was announced.

Third U. P. School Exceeds Goal Of 600

East Side School Has Attendance Of 632 Sunday, Best Record During Contest

The top was blown completely out of the attendance thermometer at the Third U. P. Bible school last Sunday when they went over the goal of 600, set by the attendance committee when they attained an attendance of 632. This is the largest number to attend so far in the contest.

Nine classes had 100 or more percent in attendance and eleven classes had 100% of their attendance remaining for the church service. In the junior church service, Mrs. Mendal Smith and Mrs. C. R. Kennaday of the primary department at Highland U. P. church, presented a program of motion, songs and flannelgraph stories. The last in this series of junior church services will be held on the coming Sunday when a special Easter program will be presented.

The classes having 100% or more in attendance are: Miss M. Lindsey, 109; Mrs. L. Gray, 100, E. Johnson, 100; Mrs. G. Glass, 100; M. Reynolds, 133; C. Byler, 100; R. Strobel, 160—P.A.L., class; Miss H. Keder, 150—J.O.Y. class; Y.L.B., 110.

The classes with 100% staying for the church service are: Mrs. D. Axe, Mrs. W. Kyle, Mrs. T. Coultas, Mrs. W. Jessel, Mrs. C. Bryan, Y.L.B. class, Dr. J. P. Graham, A. J. Minick, Mrs. E. King, Mrs. W. Schoenfeld, and C. Byler.

On Wednesday evening, March 31, the teachers and officers will hold their quarterly meeting which will be in the form of a pre-view of the lessons for the coming quarter and anyone interested in the Bible school is invited to participate. The first period will be in the form of a devotional service in charge of the officers and program committee of the teachers' association. Following this period the group will be divided for the conference work. Those teachers who use the international lessons will be in a group, taught by the pastor of the church, Dr. J. Paul Graham. The children's division will have for their speaker, Miss Louise Campbell of Pittsburgh. Miss Campbell, who is director of Religious Education at the Eighth U. P. Bible school, of Pittsburgh, will pre-view the material used in the beginners, primary and junior departments and will demonstrate the use of correlated hand craft material. There will also be a display of books from the U. P. book store in Pittsburgh. Among these will be helps for all age groups.

The Bible school cabinet will meet during the conference period for the transaction of important business and to make plans for the assembly program which is to be held during the worship service on Sunday morning, April 4, when department and class awards will be given to those groups with the highest percentages during the contest.

A full program has been planned for Easter Sunday. At 6:30 o'clock, the sunrise service will be in charge of youth groups of the church, Bible school at 9:45 with junior church and worship service at 11 a.m., and Pioneers and Builders meeting at 6:30 p.m. At 7:30 the choir will present an Easter cantata and the fellowship meeting will be at 8:30 p.m.

Murray Demands Grand Jury Probe Of Plant Accident

EASTON, Pa., March 26.—(INS) Philip Murray, international president of the CIO and United Steelworkers Union, today demanded a grand jury probe of the "flare-up" which killed four men at a Bethlehem steel plant last Wednesday night.

Ten other workmen were injured, two seriously, when molten coke overflowed while the men were banking a blast furnace at Bethlehem.

Murray made his demand in a wire to District Attorney Jacob Raub, of Northampton county, who released it for publication without comment.

Meanwhile, County Coroner D. F. Bachman said an inquest into the tragedy would be held when evidence and witnesses are gathered.

USW District Director C. B. Newell demanded a full investigation in a wire to Gov. James H. Duff.

Seek To Discover What Soviet Got

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—A house committee shifted its investigation of the state department today to determine how much surplus raw materials left overseas by the United States was obtained by Russia and her satellites.

Rep. Rizley (R) Okla., chairman of the house expenditures subcommittee which has launched a probe of shipments of surplus military supplies to the Soviet camp, announced that transactions of the state department's foreign liquidation commission will be examined by congressional investigators.

The foreign liquidation commission was in charge of all sales of equipment abandoned as surplus by U. S. armed forces abroad.

Rizley commented:

"From the preliminary information we have, I believe that some of the biggest leaks in the sale of surplus military equipment to Russia and the satellite countries has been through overseas liquidation agencies."

He disclosed that committee counsel Edwin J. Donohue now is in Hawaii investigating the commission's sale of surplus aircraft and component parts on a "world wide basis".

Self-Supporting Program For Japan Aim Of United States

TOKYO, March 26—(INS)—Gen. William H. Draper, Jr., head of the American economic mission to Japan, said today the United States is preparing a program of aid designed to permit the Japanese economy to "pay its own way" by 1952 or 1953.

At the same time, he said the United States does not intend to hold Japanese economy to any set levels such as the 1934 industrial average. The latter long has been considered the level at which Japan's economy would be fixed.

The general stressed at a Tokyo news conference that America wants a self-supporting Japan.

He denied that the United States is building up Japan as a buffer against the Soviets, saying:

"Our efforts are designed solely to save the United States from the burden of supporting Japan and to put Japan on its own feet."

Defense Should Be Like Religion

Not Just One-Day Affair, But One Calling For Constant Attention

ARMY DAY WILL FOCUS INTEREST

With the approach of Army Day, on Tuesday, April 6, it seems obvious that public interest in defense is much like one's religion, something which calls for our constant attention, and not just a one-day affair, it was stated today by the local committee in calling attention to the annual national observance of Army Day here, with a dinner in The Castleton, at the noon hour.

It is impossible to call to the attention of the public, to all the great achievements, in detail, of our armies, down through the years. It is important to note however, that our citizen soldiers have engaged in seven wars, all of which have ended in victory. If we are not adequately prepared, defeat may be our fate at some time in the future.

Under the leadership of George Washington, the Continental Army freed the colonies from the tyranny of George, Third. Out of that victory, this nation of freemen came into being.

In 1812, our armies successfully stood off the British a second time.

In 1845, the armies commanded by General Winfield Scott and General Zachary Taylor brought a quick settlement of our disputes with Mexico.

Then came the deplorable conflict between the north and south from 1861 and 1865, which liberated the slaves and made all residents of this nation free.

The war with Spain in 1898 ended in a quick victory.

Then followed the two World Wars, when our pitifully small trained soldiery expanded into armies of millions, the late conflict involving ten millions of our young men, who successfully waged conflict in two great world areas, widely separated.

The army can rightfully be proud of their achievements on these occasions, but we now stand in an awesome present and look hopefully to a more secure future. Until the entire world completely subscribes to the philosophy of freedom and human rights, our own republic can remain at peace with the forces of aggression, only if our people provide their government with the sinews of strength needed in our time.

Hopes Eisenhower Will Be Candidate

CHICAGO, March 26.—(INS)—Jacob M. Arvey, chairman of the powerful Cook county Democratic party organization, asserted today that he "hopes General Dwight D. Eisenhower becomes available" for the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

Arvey, a power in the Chicago Democratic machine, made his statement after returning from a Washington meeting with Sen. J. Howard McGrath, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

It was the first open indication that Chicago's Democratic machine, which helped put President Truman in the White House, may join efforts to block his renomination.

Daring Bandit Gets $25,000 In Holdup

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 26.—(INS)—A lone bandit stole $25,000 in cash today without even displaying a gun.

He walked into the Technology store in Cambridge—a branch of the Harvard Cooperative Society—grabbed the bag of cash from two girl clerks and fled before they cry for help. An accomplice sped him away from the scene in a car.

Flies Should Beware Of Zoo Chameleons

Tricky Animals Arrive At New York Zoological Park Via Air From Palestine

NEW YORK—(INS)—If the insect kingdom had a "grapevine" system this warning would have been sent out recently. "All flies take notice! Two everhungry chameleons arrived in this country recently after an air trip from Palestine.

"Approach these sub-orders or lizards very cautiously as they will strike without any provocation. They are believed to be roving in the vicinity of the aquarium at the New York Zoological Park in the Bronx.

"Chameleons are very tricky. They can see forward with one eye and backward with the other. Their most potent weapon is their sticky tongue which can be directed toward any fly within the radius of six to eight inches.

Carry Camouflage Units

"They also carry camouflage units. The lizard will change color in an effort to deceive prospective delicacies (us).

"Repeat: avoid any contact with these lizards unless necessary; be cautious. Their description: grasping feet, formed by the fusion of the digits into two opposing bundles; large eyes fused into one circular fold which leaves only the pupile visible; ability to change color, and tongue which will shoot out to grasp its prey.

"Watch for this dangerous lizard or you are liable to be the next fly in his ointment."

Oklahoma Solon Held In Slaying

PURCELL, Okla., March 26.—(INS)—State Rep. Purman Wilson was held in jail at Purcell today in connection with the shotgun death of a man he declared had threatened him.

Killed by a shotgun blast in Wilson's law office yesterday was Jake Miller, 30, a Blanchard, Okla., used car dealer.

Miller's wife had retained the legislator to represent her in a suit for divorce and she was a witness to the shooting.

Mrs. Miller said her husband had accompanied her to Wilson's office to talk over the divorce case and also to apologize for a fist fight the two men engaged in last Saturday.

Wilson's brother, County Attorney Ray G. Wilson, disqualified himself as prosecutor in the case and said a special prosecutor would be appointed.

Purman Wilson, 46, is chairman of the House committee on revenue and taxation in the Oklahoma legislature.

WOMAN BREAKS WRIST IN FALL DOWN STAIRS

Mrs. Alice Jones, aged 70 years, of 909 Almira avenue suffered a fracture of the right wrist when she fell down a flight of stairs at her home Thursday evening. She was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital at 9:05 p. m.

Barley Malt For Export Allocated

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—The agriculture department today allocated two million bushels of barley malt for export in April, May and June.

Seventy percent of the total is earmarked for Latin American countries and the Philippines.

The allocation is 200,000 bushels greater than the amount authorized for shipment in the first three months of the year.

Under a proposed voluntary industry agreement now under study by U. S. beer-makers, domestic brewers would be permitted to use up to five percent more malted barley per month this year than last.

The brewers are expected to accept the agreement which would become effective April 15 and run through June 30.

The largest single allocation for the second quarter of 1948—390,000 bushels—goes to Brazil. Mexico will receive 320,000 bushels; Cuba, 175,000, and Venezuela, 140,000.

Mimeographing Domination Ends

CLEVELAND, March 26.—(INS)—Fifty years of domination of the mimeographing industry by the A. B. Dick company of Chicago was at an end today.

In a consent decree signed by Federal Judge Emerich B. Freed in Cleveland, the Dick company and its wholly-owned Canadian subsidiary, Mimeograph Company, Ltd., were shorn of patents, a registered trademark, "Mimeograph", and its selling organization.

Three other concerns, C. H. Dexter & Sons, Inc., of Windsor Locks, Conn.; the John A. Manning company of Troy, N. Y., and the Aldine Paper company, a New York distributing concern, were enjoined from fixing prices, interfering with domestic or foreign commerce or from granting preferential treatment to the Dick company.

Epworth Church To Distribute Plants

Easter day in Epworth church will be marked by the distribution of Easter plants to the sick and shut-ins of the congregation. The Tau Delt Class of the church school has arranged this annual expression of good will and more than thirty persons will be the recipients of flowers used in the morning church service.

At the worship hour of eleven o'clock, the minister, Rev. George R. D. Braun will preach on the theme "To Good To Be True?" The choir under the direction of Mrs. Anna Moore Pyle will sing "Halleluiah" by Charles Marsh and "My God and I" by Sergei. At three o'clock the anual Easter Baptismal service for childnren will be held.

Ninety-eight percent of all business firms operating in the U. S. are classified as small.

Acting Czech Consul In Munich Resigns

MUNICH, March 26.—(INS)—Joseph Bohunovsky, Czechoslovak acting consul in Munich, resigned his post today.

He said he had decided to quit the Czechoslovak diplomatic service because he does "not want to be associated with a Communist government."

Bohunovsky became acting consul Feb. 28, after the consul, Moreslav Schubert, was recalled to Czechoslovakia and imprisoned by the new regime.

It was understood he was bound for France or England.

Refuses Backing Of Wallace Third Party

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—Rep. Holifield (D) Calif., today declined the backing of the Henry Wallace third party followers with a declaration that the movement is "destructive".

In a telegram to Harper Poulson, chairman of the Southern California Independent Progressive party in Los Angeles, Holifield warned the Wallace drive "will contribute to the election of the most reactionary president and congress in our history."

The knitting machine was invented by William Lee of England, in 1589.

Girl Will Marry Reformatory Inmate On Easter Sunday

Arrange Wedding For Young Man Who Still Has 14 Months To Serve In Reform School

BROCKTON, Mass., March 26.—(INS)—An attractive Brockton brunette will be married on Easter Sunday at Concord reformatory to an inmate whom she has defended since he got in trouble with authorities four years ago.

Miss Rita Forman, 24, will wed George H. Bussey, 21. After a brief ceremony, she will return home and Bussey will resume his life behind bars.

Rita has known George for the past five years, since he lived in Avon and attended high school there.

Just Can't Behave

George first got into trouble with the law four years ago. He was sent to Shirley school. His good conduct won him his freedom but he was sent back as a parole violator. He came back home again and more than a year worked hard as a painter's helper.

He moved from Avon to Brockton. Police seized him and charged him with theft of three automobiles.

Rita remained by him even as he was sentenced in Plymouth superior court in 1946 to a term at the Concord reformatory.

They corresponded during his stay there and last fall he again won freedom, under parole conditions. He was sent back late last year as a parole violator.

George recently proposed marriage to Rita although he still has 14 months of confinement ahead. She accepted and arrangements were made with the Protestant chaplain at Concord for the ceremony.

Valley Way Mission Will Have Program

Easter Sunday will be observed at Valley Way Mission with a special program at the morning service at 11 o'clock. Veterans of World War II will be especially welcome at the assembly. A song fest and pantomine will feature the baptisimal service Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Warning—Don't Be April Fooled

Look out for April foolishness warns Sid Caesar, one of Broadway's most popular comedians, as he points to the day on which you can fool lots of the people most of the time. Star of the musical hit, "Make Mine Manhattan", Caesar vows he'll not be caught by practical jokers. —International

New Castle Public Schools

One of a series of articles concerning the public schools of New Castle. Written by a member of the New Castle Chapter, Pennsylvania State Education Association.

THE SCHOOL MOVIE

Several centuries ago, a Chinese prophet stated that one picture was equal to a thousand words. During the war the armed forces further proved this statement by showing millions of training and educational films to the service men and women.

Today, all the schools of New Castle are using the movie projector. It is being used daily in the teaching of our boys and girls in all grades. Now the class is able to see the things that they study about in distant lands and the United States.

Let us imagine that a film about coal has arrived at the school. This picture is first previewed by the teacher of geography or science, which prepares the teacher for the classroom presentation of the film.

Before the showing of the film, the teacher informs the pupils what to observe in the picture. This arouses pupil interest in the subject at hand. Often the teacher may ask questions that only close observation of the picture will answer.

The students are then taken to a darkened projection room where the picture is shown. The teacher may stop the film to emphasize certain points, enabling the student to view a single picture for a longer time.

At the conclusion of the picture the teacher conducts a question period. This gives the child an opportunity to ask questions while the movie is still fresh in his mind. After the child's questions have been answered, the teacher may ask additional questions or give a written test on the film. A film is often shown twice to clearly point out the important parts.

From this, one can see that the movie plays an important part in our school system.

Maine is nearly as large as the other five New England states combined.

Plan Meeting For Discussion Of Oral Cancer, Treatment

Meeting Here Next Month Is Sponsored By Three Organizations On Cancer Subject

Plans have been completed for a dinner meeting in The Castleton, for Tuesday evening, April 13, when the subject of 'Oral cancer, its diagnosis and treatment" will be discussed.

The meeting will be addressed by Dr. Roscoe Teahan, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, and the Oncological Hospital, who will give an illustrated lecture on the subject, to be followed by a question and answer period.

This meeting is sponsored by the Lawrence County Cancer Society, the Lawrence County Dental Society, and the State Department of Health. All nurses, physicians, and dentists in the county have been asked to attend. The committee in charge of the arrangements is composed of Drs. T. J. McFate, H. S. Gold, and A. G. Reynolds.

Dinner reservations are asked to be made with Dr. A. G. Reynolds, of this city, by April 8.

The first seven stories of a new $12,000,000 hotel in Cincinnati are entirely without windows, with pure, filtered air, controlled as to temperature and humidity, furnished by air conditioning equipment.

Christ Methodist To Observe Easter

Christ Methodist church will observe Easter Sunday, beginning with a sunrise service at 6:30 o'clock, when Mrs. H. H. Marlin will speak. Mary Metta, Mary Caravaggio, Esther Hines and Emma Pearl will also take part in the program which is being sponsored by the Youth Fellowship. Rev. F. P. Sulmonetti has chosen "The Risen Life Is the Best Testimony to a Risen Christ" as his theme for the morning service at 10:30 o'clock.

Special music will be offered by the choir with Mrs. Sulmonetti as pianist and John Pacelli as violinist.

"As I Am Lifted Up," a pageant, will be presented in the evening at 7:30 o'clock under direction of Mrs. Sulmonetti and Miss Pearl. Lena Metta, Christine and Mary Caravaggio, Danny DeFalco, Nancy Pandolfi, Esther and Kenneth Hines will take part in the play. Instrumental selections will be offered by Mr. Pacelli, James Norge and Ethna Sulmonetti. A piano duet will be given by Ethna and Mrs. Sulmonetti. Dr. E. S. Cooper, superintendent of the Bible school, will speak briefly.

ABOARD LIGHT CRUISER

Charles L. Preisel, seaman, second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Preisel of 936 Marshall avenue, is serving aboard the light cruiser USS Little Rock which recently returned to the United States upon the completion of a four-month cruise in the Mediterranean area.

Protest Against Ban Of Religious School Instruction

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—(INS)—A protest against the Supreme Court ruling prohibiting religious instruction in the Champaign, Ill., public schools has been made by the publication of the Philadelphia Catholic archiocese.

The Catholic Standard and Times declared editorially: "This use of the schools is traditional in many parts of the country. The school buildings belong to the community and if the community wishes to use it for religious purposes, it seems ridiculous to scare people with 'the church.'

"The church, whether it be the Catholic church or one of the hundred sects, has nothing to do in the matter except to meet the will of the parents."

State Attorney General T. McKean Chidsey has been asked by the Department of Public Institution for an opinion on how the Supreme Court's decision will affect the Pennsylvania school system.

SAVED BY PLANK

NEW YORK, March 26.—A ship-to-shore radio distress call brought a rescue fleet to a city-operated ferryboat which ran aground in the East River in heavy fog shortly before midnight.

A fire boat and two police launches were held away by low tide. But all hands were saved.

Colonel Bailey Given Promotion

HARRISBURG, March 26.—(INS)—The Military Affairs Department announced the promotion of Col. William S. Bailey, Harrisburg attorney, to brigadier general in the Pennsylvania National Guard has been approved by the Army department.

Bailey, who commands Tenth Corp Artillery Units in the PNG, was promoted January 1 by Gov. James H. Duff pending approval of the department. He commanded the 939th Field Artillery Battalion in the Italian campaign during World War II. Prior to his present command, Bailey was chief of staff of the reactivated 28th Infantry Division.

Hanns Eisler And Wife Are Being Sent To Vienna

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS)—Hanns Eisler, erstwhile German communist leader who came to the United States in 1940 as a high-priced Hollywood music composer, leaves for Vienna today under the watchful eye of the immigration and naturalization service.

His wife, Louise, will go with him.

Soviet Radio Says Political Leaders Of Korea To Meet

SEOUL, March 26.—(INS)—The Soviet-controlled Pyongyang radio said today that certain political leaders in American-occupied south Korea will be invited to a meeting in Russian-held north Korea shortly.

They will be asked to attend a joint session with north Korean political leaders at Pyongyang on April 14, according to the broadcast. Pyongyang is the capital of the Soviet-controlled northern zone.

The decision to call the joint north-south meeting, it was added, was reached yesterday at the 26th session of the north Korean "People's Front"

An anlysis of the Pyongyang broadcast showed that the invitations are to be issued to all leftist Korean organizations in the American zone, as well as to non-leftist parties opposing a United Nations-sponsored election in south Korea.

Previously, the Pyongyang radio had announced postponement of a vote on a "new constitution" for north Korea. It said the vote will be taken in April instead of mid-March, as originally scheduled.

Gasoline From Coal Project Is Being Launched

PITTSBURGH, March 26.—(INS)—A research project to unlock the still unknown secrets which make possible conversion of coal and natural gas into gasoline has been launched, it was announced by the Gulf Oil Corporation today.

Radioactive isotopes—one of the newest scientific devices—and many of the latest research techniques, are being applied in the study, being conducted by the corporation's fellowship at the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh.

The reason for the project is that the basic nature of the chemical reaction, by which gasoline is produced from coal, remains a mystery.

The results, it is believed, may have an important bearing on the future of the gasoline-from-coal program, with broad implications to the nation's fuel picture.

NO GENERALS

NANKING, March 25.—There'll be no generals among National Assembly delegates meeting next Monday to name China's first constitutional president and vice-president.

Chiang Kai-Shek today instructed generals who also are delegates to remain at their war posts. He told them to send civilian alternates.

Report Soviets Are Sending Crack Units Into Berlin Zone

PARIS, March 26.—(INS)—The Paris newspapers Combat and France Libre quoted reports today that the Soviet Union is reinforcing its occupation troops in Germany with crack units.

The reports, originating in the Geneva Journal, say that Russian forces in the Soviet zone are to be brought up to a strength of 35,000 "armored" troops.

The newspaper quoted the Journal as saying that "shock troops comparable to those which participated in the last offensive against the heart of the Reich in 1945" are among the new reinforcements.

They added that there is a rumor that Russian aviation is to be increased substantially during the next few days.

Plan Beat Survey On Allegheny River

Jap Government To Be Responsible For Purge Enforcement

TOKYO, March 26.—(INS)—A high official at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's occupation offices in Tokyo declared today that future Japanese governments will be held responsible for enforcement of the purge.

The statement came from Brig. Gen. Courtney Whitney, chief of the occupation headquarters government section.

It followed by 24 hours a Japanese government announcement that the present purge agencies will be dissolved May 10 and their functions transferred to the premier and provincial governors.

Gen. Whitney pointed out that the purging of militaristic and nationalistic elements from Japanese public life was one of the obligations imposed upon Japan under the terms of the surrender.

Baby Hippopotamus Born Under Water

CHICAGO, March 26.—(INS)—"Bebe," the hippopotamus at Chicago's Brookfield zoo, is trying to hide her new-born calf from her attendants as well as the curious crowds around her pen.

The calf, usually weighing about 30 pounds at birth, was born late yesterday.

The development of America's unforested land was long delayed by the mistaken belief that land which did not support trees could not grow crops.

Await Decision Of Council In Hearing Of Policeman

When council meeting in city hall Thursday occupied the role of trial board to hear charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and unfaithfulness in service of Policeman James Browne now under suspension, only two of the several witnesses were non-employes of the city.

They were Miss Ruth Parker, a waitress at the C. & V. Snack bar, Long avenue, and Adam Pszenny, a bartender.

Miss Parker testified that Policeman Brown, accompanied by another man, had been in the snack bar, which later Brown denied. She failed to recognize John L. Berg, who testified Brown had taken $338, as the man with Brown.

Pszenny testified that the afternoon of March 6, after Berg made the accusation against Brown, Berg and another man had entered the Moravia street saloon, where he attends bar.

He testified Berg had asked if he didn't remember his being there with Policeman Brown, and of having had hamburgers. Pszenny testified he told Berg that neither he nor Brown had been in his place.

Mayor John F. Haven said that after Berg had accused Brown, the chief of police had told him to make an investigation to find the place that both Berg and Brown had been in, hence the visit to the bar at 1511 Moravia street.

Suber Is Witness

Lieutenant C. F. Suber was the first witness. He testified Policeman Brown drove Berg, in the latter's car, to police headquarters at 1:50 a. m. March 6, on suspicion of driving while drunk, the arrest having been made, Brown said, in the 1100 block of Moravia street.

He said Berg removed his overcoat and said he had been "shaken down". He had a check for $15,000 in his wallet and a few Guatemala coins. Suber summoned a city physician who found Berg intoxicated. Policeman Brown stayed in the courtroom. After the test, Berg accused Brown of larceny of his money.

Lieutenant Suber called Sergeant Grover Syling and Brown into the chief's office. He said an accused had the right to be present during an accusation, and when asked if he accused Brown, Berg was reported to have lowered his head and said: "My money is gone." Brown left the police station about 3:05 a. m.

Lieutenant Suber testified Sergeant Syling told him Brown had failed to report in at 4 a. m., 5 a. m. or thereafter.

Suber testified that Berg had a staggering gait he did not smell liquor on either, and Officer Brown acted normally.

Berg Is Called

Mr. Berg was called to testify. He said he buys equipment material for construction companies, told of coming to New Castle enroute to Cincinnati about 11 p. m. March 5, and getting off route 422 and was flagged down by Policeman Brown.

He testified Brown asked, and was shown identification cards, which were handed back after which Brown said, according to Berg: "Move over and I'll take over." He placed the time about 11:15 p. m. Brown drove. The radio was turned on. He said Brown got out of the car and went to a telephone, and then they went to the C & V snack bar.

Berg testified that previously to this, he had been given a bottle of wine and some cheese in Butler. He said he offered the wine to Brown and Brown drank some.

Asked if he had given Brown any money, Berg answered affirmatively, stating $10.

Counted Money

He said that Brown asked him to see the other money, and Berg counted it, which amounted to $338. He said Brown took it and Berg wanted it back. Brown was alleged to have said: "You are going to the police station." Berg testified he told Brown: "I demand to go there."

He says he told Lieutenant Suber what had transpired, and being in poor condition from war service in the Pacific he was afraid to make a direct charge of larceny against Brown, not knowing how he would be treated, and asked to have his brother come to headquarters. Berg said he customarily doesn't drink, being a malaria patient.

He said he didn't accuse Brown in Brown's presence of taking the money, but said: "My money is gone" but the next morning he did accuse Brown of taking it.

Berg said he rode around with Brown in Berg's car from 11 p. m. until about 1:50 a. m.

Attorney Solomon brought out that Berg's case for drunken driving is now before Alderman J. C. Kennedy, and asked how he accounted for $1 having been found in his car the next morning by police. He said he had drank after Brown got into his car and said he gave the $10 to Brown because he knew he had wine in his car and believed he could be be released.

Waitress Called

Solicitor White called Miss Ruth Parker, waitress at the C & V. She said she knew Brown, but did not recall seeing Berg with him in the snack bar between 11 p. m. and midnight. She said the man with Brown paid for the hamburgers, and the next morning Berg, with police, went to the snack bar. She said she did not pay attention to customers' faces and didn't remember Berg as being the man with Brown.

Police Chief Testifies

Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna testified he told Brown of the accusation, and Brown told him he had driven Berg directly to the police station. He denied taking the money from Berg. Berg insisted Brown had taken $338. He said he had suspended Brown. Later he asked Brown to resign, but the latter requested a hearing.

Relating to Brown's failure to report in, he said that on two occasions he had failed to report off, was warned the first time and received a two days suspension for the second offense. Brown said he was ill the first time, and was in the hospital for treatment on the second occasion.

He told Chief Hanna, the latter testified, that after leaving police headquarters March 6 at 3:05 a. m. he had gone to Long avenue, then went to the fire station in Scioto street, called in at 4 a. m. but became ill, had gone to sleep on a chair in an inside room of the station.

In answer to a question by Mayor Haven, Chief Hanna said Brown had admitted to him that he had not reported in as he should have.

Sergeant Grover Syling testified that Brown had not reported in to headquarters after leaving police headquarters at 3 a. m.

Didn't See Brown

Policeman William Birt told of visiting the fire station, at Lieutenant Suber's order, to search for Brown and ofnot seeing him in the department.

Lieutenant Jones told of accompanying Berg to the C & V snack bar and of Berg recognizing it as the place Brown and he had been in, and of their eating hamburgers. He said Miss Parker, when quizzed the first time, said she had not seen Berg with Brown, but when questioned later, said she was not sure of it.

Brown Testifies

Attorney Solomon placed Brown on the stand.

He said he was patrolling his Moravia street beat, flagged down Berg, and found him slumped over the wheel of the car. He testified that Berg asked him: Where's my gal? Brown testified he got into the car.

Brown testified he drove around the block, then directly to police headquarters, and insisted he had not asked Berg for identification. Berg told Brown, he testified, he worked for the government, and Brown told him that doesn't mean a thing.

Brown testified that at no time did he see Berg's wallet. He said he returned to his beat at 3 a. m. and reported in from a box at 4 a. m. He said he went to the fire station and went to sleep. He also said he did not drink with Berg, didn't receive $10 from him, didn't ride around with him and did not take Berg's $338.

"Do you ever drink while on duty?" Mayor Haven asked Brown.

Brown said: "No."

The mayor asked Brown if he did not recall the mayor warning him not to drink while on duty when Brown visited him in his office. Brown said the mayor warned him in 1945 (while Brown was a temporary policeman. He had been on regular since last May). The mayor said that Brown had promised him then he wouldn't drink on duty, and that he didn't like a man to lie to him.

Attorney Solomon made a plea for disciplining, if needed, and not dismissal. He went over the case, stating that it was Berg's word against Brown's and that the department should protect Brown, in view of his having made an arrest of Berg for driving while intoxicated.

The hearing was closed with Solicitor White stating that he was not the prosecutor, but as city solicitor wanted to prepare an opinion which would be ready for council Monday, pending which he asked no decision be made by council as a trial board.

Woman Kidnaper Of Own Child Will Be Made To Stand Trial

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 26.—(INS)—Mrs. Virginia Lock, who was arrested on a fugitive warrant in connection with a kidnaping charge, has been released in custody of State Sen. Walter J. Mahoney, pending arrival of Pennsylvania police.

She will be returned to the Keystone state.

The warrant, issued in Summerhill, Pa., to Mrs. Lock's first husband, Peter R. Shrift, charges that she kidnaped their seven-year-old daughter, Sylvia Lynn Shrift, and brought her to Buffalo to live.

The father was divorced by Mrs. Lock, but Pennsylvania courts held that he was entitled to the child's custody.

Sen. Mahoney indicated that Mrs. Lock will fight extradition proceedings.

Would Terminate Trade Relations With Soviet Russia

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—A congressional proposal to terminate trade relations between the United States and the Soviet Union developel today as the house awaited voting Monday on the Europe and China recovery program.

Rep. Colmer (R), Miss., declared that he will offer an amendment to bar all shipments to Russia on the ground that "we're following now the same pattern as before the last war when we shipped oil and scrap iron to Japan."

Simultaneously, Rep. Vorys (R) Ohio, who is piloting the recovery legislation through the house, proposed that the United States launch a program for the economic rehabilitation of Japan, Korea and the Ryukyu islands.

The gardenia is a native of China but is named after Dr. Alexander Garden, a Charleston, S. C., physician.

Soviet Moves Aid To Marshall Plan

Administration Advocates See Soviet Action As Speeding Up Action

OTHER NEWS OF NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(Special To Central Press)

WASHINGTON, March 26. — Administration advocates of the Marshall Plan are jubilant—but, of necessity, silent—on the great assistance the Soviet govenment is rendering to hasten Congressional approval of the European Recovery Plan.

Moscow's expansionist moves against Czechoslovakia and Finland have effectively spiked the guns of Congressional opposition to the program. Instead, even the cohesive group of 20 revisionist Republicans are agreed that the program must be ruled through Congress and placed in operation.

The main spearhead of their attack is against the size of the first year's authorization, but much of the steam has been taken out of this objective by the spreading of Communist ideology.

Last summer, after Secretary of State George C. Marshall's proposals at Harvard university, Washington speculated freely that Congress would do what the Reds failed to do—scuttle the program.

Each Russian step, through Hungary, the abortive strikes in Italy and France, and now the Czech and Finn maneuvers, has whittled down Congressional opposition.

Latin-American Scraps

The meeting of the 21 American nations in Bogota, beginning late this month, is likely to produce some surprises not entirely anticipated.

The gathering is being held five years late. It had been projected originally for 1943 but the war intervened. Since then it has been postponed for various other reasons, chiefly American preoccupation with European and Far Eastern affairs requiring urgent attention.

Now it may prove a challenge to the leadership of the United States in the Western Hemisphere. The Latin states are anticipating, and undoubtedly will get, some form of an economic aid program.

However, a fight may develop even here since Argentine may challenge United States leadership in her effort to build up a bloc of her own in both political and economic spheres.

Even more excitement may be created by Communist activities in South America, especially in view of the Czech coup and the threat to Finland.

Democratic Opulence

Those who remember the lean, hard days of the Democratic party find it hard to believe their eyes when they walk into the ornate new Democratic National headquarters.

The national committee has taken over the second floor of Washington's newest and most palatial office building. The lush note begins when the elevator doors swing open and the visitor is faced by all Chinese red against black, lacquer-like walls.

Newsmen, however, do not like the interlocking office which make it possible for a visiting politician to enter one way, and emerge undetected by another route a corridor away.

Some people think that it was planned that way!

Heart to Heart

Washington observers are wondering just who had the upper hand—conversationally—the other day, Republicans or Democrats.

Rep. Adolph J. Sabath (D) Ill., in discussing social security legislation on the House floor, got sidetracked into foreign policy and hinted to his colleagues that he thought the administration had been misled by higher-up Republicans.

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R) Mich., popped up and said: "Then the gentleman thinks the present foreign policy advocated by President Truman is a GOP policy?"

"Do you want my candid opinion?" Sabath answered.

"I would not have asked the question had I thought it would be anything else," Hoffman said.

"I will give it to the gentleman," Sabath went on.

"Yes, that is what I want," Hoffman interrupted.

"Heart to heart, now," Hoffman said.

"Heart to heart," Sabath repeated.

King's Chapel Will Have Easter Cantata

Combined choirs of King's Chapel and Pulaski Methodist churches will present the life story of Christ in cantata from Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in King's Chapel church. Vocal solos will be offered by Rev. M. G. Weaver, Jeanne Morris, Dean Wallace, Roberta Weaver and Jean Morgan. A duet will be sung by Mary Catherine and Elberta Green.

Mrs. T. G. Wallace will serve as pianist, while Mrs. Francis Taylor will act as accompanist. Mrs. Robert Rice will serve as reader. Rev. Morris will narrate the Scripture during the program.

LIFE EXPECTANCY

Life expectancy of overweight men and women decreases proportionately to each ten pounds of overweight. Twenty-five pounds of extra weight between the ages of 45 and 50 reduces life expectancy 25 per cent.

Jobless Payments Show Decrease

HARRISBURG, March 26—(INS)—State Treasurer Ramsey S. Black reported unemployment benefits paid jobless Pennsylvanians during the week ended March 19 totaled $2,167,947.

Payments were divided almost equally between unemployed veterans and jobless workers.

Service men's readjustment allowances totaled $1,084,850, compared with $1,247,770 the preceding week, Black said. Jobless workers received benefits totaling $1,083,097 in contrast to $1,248,737 the preceding week, he added.

Penna B.O. Lodge Plans For Dinner

To Celebrate 36th Anniversary Of Organization With Tureen Dinner April 14

Members of the Penna BO lodge gathered for their regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon, in the green room of the Y.M.C.A.

Mrs. C. A. Probst, president, was in charge ofthe business session. Plans were made for the thirty-sixth anniversary of the organization, to be celebrated on Wednesday, April 14, in the Y.W.C.A.

There will be a baked ham tureen dinner, served at noon. Chairlady of arrangements is Mrs. Henrietta Powers, with Mrs. Eva Drumheller and Mrs. Lila Shaw as aides.

Boy Scouts Admit Two New Members

On Thursday evening, at seven o'clock, members of Boy Scouts Troop X4 assembled on the baseball grounds, at the west end of Clayton street. The meeting was informal.

Robert Olmstead, scoutmaster, was in charge.

There was an investiture service, when two new members were accepted and initiated into the troop, namely Jack Shaw and William Barnett.

The scouts built a fine camp-fire and the remainder of the evening was spent telling "ghost stories."

Next meeting of this group will be in Mahoning Methodist church, Thursday evening, April 1, at 7 o'clock.

Red Cross Drive Exceeds The Quota

Mrs. L. W. Fulton, of 207 North Cedar street, chairlady of the Red Cross Drive in the ward, is glad to report that the ward went over the quota during this campaign.

She desires to thank her coworkers for their splendid cooperation during the solicitation, and the folks of the ward and community for their generosity to this noble work.

Speaks Tonight At Plaingrove Church

At the special Holy Week Communion Service of Plaingrove Presbyterian church, this evening, at 8 o'clock, Rev. Howard A. Redmond, pastor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, will give the meditation. His theme will be, "From the Upper Room To The Throne Room."

SEVENTH WARD NOTES

Library, Pa., Has Hollywood Premier With Stars Present

Small Coal Mining Town Entertains Jesse L. Lasky And Company Of Movie Stars

LIBRARY, Pa., March 26.—(INS)—Hollywood came to this little western Pennsylvania coal mining town, literally.

Dedicate Monuments

Lasky, Charles Coburn, Leo Corillo, Ruth Warrick, Harry Burns, and other Hollywood lights helped dedicate two monuments to the World War II dead of Library—one of them to Sgt. Thomas Mathies who was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously.

There were parades, bands, honor guards for the stars, and a police-led motorcade from nearby Pittsburgh.

Traditional Good Friday Ceremony In Philippines

MANILA, March 26.—(INS)—Crowds flocked to Bault Island today to witness the traditional Good Friday ceremony of Filipino Flagellants, lashing their own bared backs until the blood flowed.

In fulfillment of Devout pledges, 26 men scourged themselves with short bamboo staves tied to ropes which they swung first under one arm then under the other to break the skin of their backs.

Then the Flagellants walked to the nearby shore, crossed themselves, plunged into the sea and rubbed salt into their open wounds.

No Date Yet Set In Divorce Suit Against Topping

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., March 26.—(INS)—The 90-day Connecticut compulsory waiting period in a divorce case expires tomorrow, but no date has yet been set for the divorce suit of tinplate heir Henry J. Topping against movie actress Arline Judge.

Before the case can be tried several legal motions must be disposed of, including a more specific statement of the charges Topping made against the five times married actress.

Miss Judge has demanded a one million dollar alimony settlement and a motion on her request for temporary alimony must be cleared up before the lawyers for both parties advise the court that the case is ready for the calendar.

Counsel in the case declare that plans are indefinite as to when the motions will be brought before the court.

Topping, who reportedly wants to marry actress Lana Turner, based his suit on charges of cruelty.

Urges Halt Of Shipments To Soviet Russia

TRENTON, N. J., March 26.—(INS)—Governor Alfred E. Driscoll today called for the halting of shipments to Russia of merchandise that may be used for war purposes.

M. Ethel Colton Laidlaw, president, Plainfield Council of Church Women, had requested the governor to take some action to stop such shipments to Russia. The governor, in a telegram of reply, pointed out that this is a matter for the federal government to regulate.

"The failure of those in the national government charged with the development of foreign policy over a period of many years to adopt an intelligent, coherent, concise and durable foreign policy has brought this country to the brink of disaster," said the governor.

"It is to be hoped that history will not repeat itself. You will remember that for years many of our citizens sought to stem the flow of scrap metal to Japan because it might some day be used against us."

Budget Surplus Has Hit Seven Billion, Treasury Announces

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—The treasury reported today that the government's budget surplus has surpassed the seven billion dollar mark for the first time in history.

The surplus is the difference thus far between the government receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1948.

Treasury figures revealed that the surplus totaled seven billion 163 million dollars on March 24.

In view of this, treasury officials said the President Truman's estimate of a seven and one-half billion dollar surplus for the year is certain to be exceeded.

UNION FIREMEN AT ELMWOOD GRASS FIRE

Another grass fire at 8 o'clock last evening brought out the Union township volunteer fire department to the Elmwood avenue section in Union township. A grass fire in progress there was put out by the firemen, who spent a half hour at the scene of the blaze.

United Brethren Churches To Unite

This evening at 7:30 o'clock the First United Brethren church, Crawford avenue, and Bethel U. B. church will unite in the Crawford avenue church for a union Good Friday service.

The speaker for the service will be Rev. Harold Snyder, pastor of the Stanton avenue church, who will use slides depicting the last week of Christ's life to illustrate his sermon. Special music will be presented with a communion service to follow.

Sunday morning the Crawford avenue church, Highland Heights and Stanton avenue groups will unite at 6:30 o'clock in the First U. B. church for a sunrise service. The speaker will be Rev. C. A. Henning of Bowling Green, O.

Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock the youth of the Crawford avenue church will present a pageant, "Holy Altars", in the church.

EXPENSIVE TROUT

NEWPORT, Pa., March 26.—(INS)—Fisherman George W. Hain, 57, of Marysville, considered himself somewhat lucky to catch 13 trout. But the old jinx numeral caught up with him.

Hain was fined $130 and costs by Justice of the Peace Frank Mulligan of Newport, for taking trout out of season.

HEART ATTACK FATAL

NEWVILLE, Pa., March 26.—(INS)—The Cumberland county coroner's office today blamed a heart attack for the death of 75-year-old Robert Bawn, whose body was found in a field of burning brush.

Coroner Edward A. Haegele reported the aged man apparently collapsed from strain while clearing a strip of land on the farm where he boarded.

Jap Government Threatens Action Result Of Strikes

Report 200,000 Government Employes In Japan Staggered Walkouts

TOKYO, March 26.—(INS)—A series of "staggered" 24-hour walkouts was launched Thursday by 200,000 Japanese government employes in support of union demands for increased pay.

The government warned in a statement that "strong action" would be taken against the strikers. Reviewing negotiations toward settlement of the workers' demands, the statement stressed the serious effects the walkouts would have on Japanese industry.

One Walkout Averted

Meanwhile, walkouts by 95,000 electric power workers were called off after the Japanese Labor Board of Mediation agreed to certain "minimum demands," leaving details to be settled later.

Seek Slayer Of Minister's Wife

ELKO, Nev., March 26.—(INS)—A Hungarian religious student and war refugee was accused Thursday of the mutilation slaying last Monday of Mrs. Billie Rahe Morning, 22, wife of a Wells, Nev., minister.

The suspect was identified in a first degree murder complaint filed by District Attorney A. L. Pucinelli as Larzie Varga, who is also wanted for violation of parole from the Ypsilanti, Mich., insane asylum.

Hunt Extended

A widespread hunt is under way in Nevada, Utah, Idaho and California for the accused man.

Authorities charge he gained entrance to the Morning home at Wells by begging for food, then criminally assaulted the youthful minister's wife, killed her and mutilated her body.

Police Chiefs Rap Radio Crime Plays

Plan To Lead Crusade Against Crime Dished Out In Form Of Radio Entertainment

HARRISBURG, Pa. — (INS) — Radio's blood-curdling mystery dramas are being attacked in Pennsylvania by the state's Police Chiefs Association.

The organization is "gunning" for shows featuring "bad men" of the airways because it considers them detrimental to children. The association feels that the radio melodramas may promote juvenile delinquency as well as taut, upset nervous systems.

The association plans to lead a crusade against crime which is doctored and dished out in the form of entertainment. Chief means of combat will be competing educational programs which whisk aside the glamor coating fiction which writers give to one of the nation's outstanding social problems.

Voiced on Networks

Verbal punishment for the dealers-in-crime will be voiced on state networks by flesh and blood sleuths and criminologists.

Down-to-earth discussions of factors contributing to crime and means of combating social evils will form the core of the propaganda programs.

The realistic waste and horror of criminal acts will be held up to counteract cut-and-dried presentations of spine-chillers where master criminal minds leave cases as airtight as Swiss cheese and detectives track down clues with the ease of blood hounds following a meat wagon.

The organization plans also to take a swat at trash detective magazines peddling the same type of literary merchandise.

Judge Is Lenient In Spirited Affair

LONDON — (INS) — So much Scotch is being shipped to the United States and so great is the demand for hard liquor in Britain that Carl Mumby, company director of Cleethorpes, Lincoln county, decided to manufacture his own.

His mixture consisted of 20 per cent methylated spirits, 65 per cent water and 15 per cent genuine whiskey.

Unfortunately for Mumby, the police heard about his still and learned that he sold the home-made concoction to the public.

Hauled Into Court

Mumby was hauled into court on 16 summonses for the illegal sale of "spirits" and fined $14,600. He was given three months to pay or, in default, a year's imprisonment.

Mumby appealed on the grounds that he made only $400 on his whiskey deal and that the fines were "utterly out of proportion".

The court then reduced the fines to $9,600.

SMOOKING SMELL

The sense of smell is probably responsible for the original idea of smoking. According to the Enycyclopedia Britannica, this sense was much keener in primitive man, and along with the pleasure he derived from the aroma, he probably experienced a sense of mystery at the sight of the smoke rising up into the air.

Iraq is somewhat larger than Arizona.

NEW YORK, March 26. — The Veterans Administration is holding $5,000,000 in reserve to pay unreceived bills from private doctors and dentists in New York state who have treated veterans.

Deputy VA Administrator David P. Page said the large volume of unsettled accounts was a threat to the sound operation of the medical care program in the state.

Congress May Take Up New Grants Or Credits For Japan

TOKYO, March 26.—(INS)—Gen. William H. Draper, Jr., head of the American Economic Mission to Japan, informed the Japanese government Thursday that Congress may soon consider new grants or credits for Japan.

Draper discussed the subject during a conference with Prime Minister Hitoshi Ashida, but he emphasized that American aid to Japan cannot continue indefinitely.

A brief summation of Draper's conference with Ashida was issued by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters. It quoted Draper is telling Ashida:

"An American decision in regard to extension of further help would be decisively influenced by the record."

Draper said a favorable decision would require proof of "Japanese energy, initiative and industry in helping themselves by increasing production of essentials, by reviving foreign trade, and by making progress toward a balanced budget."

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, March 26.—(INS)—The commonwealth's pure streams program which met vicious opposition from industries and mining firms today is making money for some of the opponents though they may not admit it . . . Many coal companies, forced to install expensive desilting basins, now can market coal salvaged in settling plants that ordinarily would be dumped waste, polluting waterways . . . Sand-fine coal, purchased by many power plants, provides great heat when burned in a bellows-type furnace . . . A Mercer county tube company has found a way to salvage waste ingredients resulting from manufacting processes and turn them into by-product chemicals . . . The firm has awarded a $500,000 contract for construction of a chemical plant at its Wheatland steel mill . . . Waste materials will be processed into sulphates, ammonium, chlorides and oxides by an affiliate . . . Others may follow suit . . . Most of the mines and industries probably would have continued casting chemical residue and coal washings into streams and taken the financial loss had the anti-pollution program been defeated.

C. A. P. Bartlett, of Easton, the late Senate librarian, completed a 754-page manuscript on World War II shortly before his death March 18 . . . It was entitled "One Hundred Battle Fronts" and traced the conflict from 1939 to 1945 . . . He explained in the preface that it was a "narrative of these years of bitter strife on six continents and all the oceans." It is dedicated to the officers and men of the 43rd Infantry division of World War I.

ROSE POINT

MISSIONARY MEETING

The Ladies Missionary society of Reformed Presbyterian church held their regular monthly meeting Thursday, March 18, at the home of Mrs. Charles McFarland of Harlansburg road.

At noon a delicious dinner was served by the hostess assisted by co-hostesses, Mrs. Oscar Stickle. The day was spent quilting.

New officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Melville Martin; vice-president, Mrs. Vance Wilson; secretary, Mrs. Charles McFarland; treasurer, Mrs. Muriel Wilson.

ROSE POINT NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mackey and family visited Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Cowan and family of Castlewood.

John C. Young was one of the sportsmen that motored to Philipsburg, Center county, to see and take part in the aero-game-feeding program. There were approximately 75 airplanes and 6500 people gathered at the Black Meshannon airport. "We had a half hour ride over the mountains in a plane and saw a number of deer, and we particpipated in dropping corn," he reported.

Ronald White of New Castle is spending a few days visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Stoner.

Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Gallagher and Denny Weiz were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Taylor of Princeton.

Miss Pearl Kennedy is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Kennedy of New Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Young from Waukegon, Ill., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John C. Young and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Knight were callers at Leesburg on Sunday. They visited with relatives.

Rita Baker of Middle Lancaster is spending a week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Houk.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Young and children of Princeton were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Young.

Miss Buelah Stickle, a student nurse at Warren State Hospital, North Warren, Pa., spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stickle.

Railroads in the United States now operate, under ordinary conditions, about 17,500 trains a day, with a passenger train starting on its run somewhere every 4.9 seconds.

Aeronautic Laws Save Many Lives

More Than 200 State Airports Cooperate With State Commission In Safety Program

HARRISBURG, March 26.—The law enforcement and safety program of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission of the State Department of Commerce, in addition to saving lives, is saving money for airport operators, the Commission reported today.

This was revealed by a letter to William L. Anderson, Executive Director of the Aeronautics Commission, from Oscar L. Hostetter, of York, President of the Pennsylvania Aviation Trades Association.

"The commercial airport operators of this state feel that the reduced accident rate resulting from the intelligent manner in which the program has been conducted, has meant a saving of thousands of dollars (in aircraft) to the operators," Hostetter stated, complimenting the Aeronautics Commission on its "excellent enforcement and safety program" during 1947. Pennsylvania's record last year in enforcement and accident investigation was the best in the country, on the basis of the reduction of the percentage of fatalities from private flying accidents.

The majority of airplanes being flown in Pennsylvania are owned and operated by commercial operators, and are rented to pilots. It is understood that more than 200 airport operators, cooperating with the Aeronautics Commission in its safety program, have established more rigid requirements for the renting of their airplanes, have imposed restrictions upon pilots flying off their airports, and are enforcing their own rules. In a number of cases, operators have refused to rent planes to pilots known to have violated the regulations of the Aeronautics Commission.

Chicago Woman Has Had Enough

CHICAGO, March 26.—(INS)—Mrs. Ida Mae Wilson wants a second divorce from her husband, John, 38, a millwright, because she claims he always took his gambling losses out on her.

In her second divorce suit, Mrs. Wilson charges her husband blackened both her eyes and wilfully burned her hand with a cigaret in a fit of temper over gambling losses last March, adding that he slugged her in the face last Thursday.

The Wilsons were divorced October, 1945, and remarried the following month. She asks alimony and custody of their four children.

Optimist Tourney Into Second Round Of Play

Roaring past the first round post and into the second round pairings, the Optimist club-sponsored city-county cage tournament saw three more games become history last night at G. W. gym.

The Morella Dairy bar quint became the first outfit in the tourney to advance to the semi-finals, knocking off the Gus "Big Five" in a stiff and exiciting tussel, 44-35.

The Morellas had a big gun in Kenny Catheart, stringy center, who came into the game in a substitute role and poured 13 points through the rings. The inability of the "Big Five" to cash their charity throws hurt them—they made but 7 out of 20. Don Black again was brilliant for the Gus' entry, caging 9 points. Borowicz was second high man for the winners with 10.

The "Big Five" led at the first period, 12-7, but lost the edge at the half, 19-17. The third stanza score was 32-27, Morella Dairy.

Potters Triumph

The Shenango Pottery team showed their power by blasting the Wampum Legion, 42-31, with an easy win over Tempy's Beach, 44-19, enjoying a 22-8 halftime bulge and coasting home. O'Hara, with 11 and Mattocks with 10, were the big guns, while Magno hit for 11 for the Tempy's.

Monday night, the following second round games are offered: New Castle Elks vs. Kelley Five; Shenango Pottery vs. Ellwood Sportsmen, and American Legion vs. East Brook Boosters.

Kiner Connects For First Homer, 425-Foot Beauty

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., March 26.—(INS)—Ralph Kiner was back in the spotlight today with the news that his first home run of 1948 is now a matter of record.

In winning their ninth game against five defeats, the Bucs presented a revamped lineup.

Pete Castiglione took over at shortstop and collected three hits. Monte Basgall returned to second base and celebrated with two hits. Dixie Walker started his first game of the spring and was on base with a single when Kiner cracked his homer.

JUNIOR CHURCH TITLE CONTEST SLATED SATURDAY

Sampson Street Alliance, first half winners, and St. George, champions of the second half play, will tangle Saturday at 1:30 p. m. for the Junior Church league title.

There will only be this one game for the honors, it was announced.

Briefs From Major Camps

(International News Service)

The regular 1947 pitchers of the New York Yankees are being dwarfed by the brilliant exhibition performances of Ed Lopat and Red Embree, veteran star hurlers obtained by the world champions from other clubs since last season.

Red Embree

Embree went further than any New York pitcher thus far this year when he allowed Detroit only one hit in six innings yesterday. Only 18 batters faced him.

Embree's successor, Karl Drews, was hit hard and the Yanks barely managed to win the ball game, 6 to 5.

Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants had practically decided today to buy Will Hafey, young right-hand pitcher with Oakland who beat the Giants yesterday 4 to 2. The 26-yearlold cousin of Chick Hafey, former St. Louis slugger, was the first hurler to keep the New Yorkers from belting a home run since March 12.

Washington also came to grief against minor league opposition, losing to Chattanooga, 6 to 1. The Boston Braves beat Newark of the International league, 5 to 2.

Al Flair, rookie first baseman from New Orleans, hit another homer for the Phillies, who downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 6. Other results:

Cleveland 5, White Sox 4; Pittsburgh 6, San Francisco 4; Boston Red Sox 12, Cincinnati 7; St. Louis Browns 8, Chicago Cubs 7.

County League Has Nine In Fold; Meeting Tuesday

Opening For One More Team In Loop For 1948 Season, Samuels States

Nine clubs have forwarded the first payment of their franchise money to County Baseball League Treasurer B. N. Hanlon, it was announced today by President Alec Samuels.

The outfits that have indicated they will be in the loop this season are: Bessemer, Wampum, Edenburg, New Galilee, Hillsville, Hillsville St. Lucy's, Ellwood VFW, Ellwood Moose, and the Johnson Bronze.

"There is an opening for one more club for the season," Samuels said today, "and any team desiring to enter the league may send a representative to the meeting scheduled for Tuesday, March 30, at 8 p. m. in the Sporting Goods store".

The Tuesday session will be the first organizational get-together of the spring and all managers and loop officers are urged to attend. Important business matters will be discussed at that time.

Edwin Houk To Receive Tryout

Edwin Houk, 21, of Castlewood has asked for a tryout with the Mid-Atlantic team here next month and has been granted permission to show his wares at P. J. Flaherty field April 6. Houk, 5 feet 9 inches tall, is a right-handed 170-pound pitcher and had a record of 2 and 4 for Castlewood in the County league last year.

A new turf will be planted on the Penn State football field in time for the 1948 season.

Billy Meyer, No Mean Vocalist, Wants "Harmony" Among His Ball Players, Too

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—(INS) — Ballad-singing Billy Meyer, affable new manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, hasn't wasted any time instilling harmony among the players that make up his first major league team.

Meyer, who whiles away the off-hours matching his vocal prowess with Hollywood singing notables, waxes enthusiastically on the snap, hustle and team play of his Bucs. Meyer said:

"The spirit on this club is perfect. They give out with their best all the time and don't offer any gripes. Frankly, I didn't know what to expect when I came west for the opening of spring drills. I heard that the team was split with dissention in 1947. If it was, it vanished during the winter.

It's a rare occasion when the likeable Meyer strikes a sour note. But the advent of preseason night baseball and the long-awaited ending of Southern California's dry spell brings forth grumbling from the former Kansas City mentor.

Billy Meyer

None Jubilant

None of the big league pilots gathered in California are jubilant over the scheduling of nocturnal baseball during the training season.

Meyer will field a sprinkling of old and new faces when the Bucs stride onto Forbes Field this year to improve on their eighth place National League standing of 1947.

Meyer's plans call for a bolstered defense—a department in which the Pittsburghers were woefully weak last season. Players acquired in trades from the Brooklyn Dodgers figure prominently in these plans.

Third Baseman Frank Gustine is the only holdover in the infield. Former Dodgers Stan Rojek and Ed Stevens have nailed down the shortstop and initial sack posts, respectively, while Danny Murtaugh and newcomer Romanus Basgall wage war for the keystone sack.

Meyer beams with pride as he tells you that Ralph Kiner will again preside in left field. Billy has become awfully attached to the California clouter whom he terms a "thing of beauty."

Johnny Hopp will be used in center and Wally Westlake, Joe Grace and Max West will divvy playing time in right field. West, home run king of the Coast League, will also be used at first base along with Stevens.

A comparable pitching staff is presented in Kirby Higbe, Vic Lombardi, Hal Gregg—all ex-Dodgers—Ernie Bonham, Nick Strincevich, Elmer Riddle, and an apparently great rookie, Bob Chesnes.

Elks And Pulaskis Seeking Supremacy

Seeking supremacy of the New Castle basketball world, two fine teams—the Elks and K. Pulaskis are straining at the leash today awaiting their third meeting Saturday night at the Washington High gym. The tussle will settle the mooted question as to which is the best team.

Every indication points to a packed house tomorrow night as these two basketball giants fire away at the hoops. The evening's fireworks get under way at 7:15 o'clock as the Elks Reserves tangle with the Ex-New Castle High Stars—in the preliminary game. This game should whet the appetites of the fans for what is to follow.

600 Unreserved Seats

All reserved seats about 500 have been sold out for sometime now. However there will be 600 unreserved seats put on sale at the door at 6:30 tomorrow night. These will be 60 cent tickets.

Interest in the game is heightening here. Both camps feel confident of victory. Coach Paul Morrison has given his Elks a final looking over and pronounces them fit. Coach Al Gonet of the Pulaskis has ended practice session for the big game. Gonet announced that his starting five would probably be as follows—Cooper or Rea at one forward, Carl Jamison at the other forward, Stan "Fish" Wasik at center, and John Zubkowsky and Pat Patterson at the guards.

Final For Pulaskis

Morrison is reticent about his starting five but will probably open up with Don Watters and Bob Pitzer at the forwards, Fred Wimer at center, and Eddie Koszela and Tom Carey at the guards, with Vin Kelly and Pop Adams also possible guard starters.

This will be the final game for the Pulaskis, Gonet has stated, win or lose.

Midget Racing Rivals Battle For Melon Slice

CHICAGO, March 26.—(INS)—Rival midget auto racing groups are meeting practically bumper to bumper in Chicago these days, frankly bent on making the most of sportdom's newest million-dollar enterprise.

The recent capitulation of the American Automobile Association, which previously had recognized the midgets only by using the term "big car" to describe its own sanctioned events, points up the fight to control the gravy in small-car land.

The A.A.A. recently extended its sanction to a very small midwestern sector of the coast-to-coast empire that is midget racing. In announcing this move, the association commented that the small jobs have boomed mightily in recent years, and now "attract millions of fans to witness events involving first-class drivers."

Meeting in Chicago tomorrow, on the other hand, will be the Midget Auto Racing Drivers and Car Owners' Association of the Midwest, which is going to try and form a national auto racing league in opposition to the A.A.A.-sponsored faction.

BROWNS SELL EARLY (Bulletin)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 26.—(INS)—The St. Louis Browns today announced the sale of catcher Jake Early to the Washington Senators for an undisclosed sum of cash.

Early, who is 31 years old, came to the Browns in 1946 in a trade with the Senators. He batted .224 last season. The Browns are in San Diego for a series with the San Diego club.

HERSHEY BUMPED

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 26.—(INS)—The Hershey Bears were eliminated today from the American Hockey league playoffs following a 3 to 2 defeat by the Buffalo Bisons last night.

Committee Favors Four Cage Changes

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS)—The National Collegiate Basketball Committee was on record today as approving four rules changes recommended by coaches.

They are:

1. A coach will be permitted to talk to his team at his bench on charged time outs or during intermission.
2. Substitutes will be permitted to enter a game merely by reporting to the scorekeeper instead of both to this official and the referees on the court. However, he cannot enter the game until the referee beckons him.
3. A player who has committed a foul must raise his hand so he can be recognized easily by the crowd.
4. All jump balls must be made at the nearest of three six-foot circles.

EASTERN CAGERS DOWN WEST, 58-47

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS)—Eastern basketball regained some of its lost prestige today.

An underdog Eastern All-Star team upset the Western All-Stars, 58 to 47, at Madison Square Garden last night with a rally late in the second half.

The eastern team built up a 25-20 lead at half time, but the westerns made a ding-dong battle of it for a while after intermission, with the lead changing five times in 1½ minutes. Then the east pulled away in the final eight minutes of play.

Western Kentucky's Odis Spears, playing for the east, was the game's high scorer with 14 points. He was ably assisted by Adolph Schayes of New York University and Lional Malamed of City College.

For the westerners, Otto Schnellbacher, of Kansas, was high scorer with 11 points.

Murray Weir of Iowa, ballyhooed as an All-American, was covered closely by Malamed, who held him to but one field goal and three fouls.

TEMPY'S ADVANCE IN SHARON GAMES

Led by Jimmy Janacone and Don Black, the Tempy's Cubs advanced to the quarter-finals of the Sharon amateur tourney last night, whipping the Erie Trombettas, 36-23. The halftime score was 18-12, favor the locals.

Tonight the Tempy's meet the Franklin Forty-Niners at 9 o'clock. lineup:

SPORTS

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

BILLIARDS, a game of skill, and once very popular, is not played as much as it was years ago, according to Ev' Wilkins, proprietor of a billiard and pool academy here. Many of the old-timers who formerly participated in the game have 'passed on' and youngsters have not taken to the game. Wilkins gave his reason for this, as being due to the depression. Their parents did not have the money with which to give their offsprings to play billiards, hence they never learned the game. Among the better known billiardists of the city is Blaine Comstock of the Butler road, according to Wilkins. . . . A skeet and trapshoot will be held, commencing at 1 p. m. Saturday at the Lawrence County Sportsman's farm at the Harbor. Anybody can go there and shoot, according to LCSA officials. . . . Here's one from Jimmie Dunn, fight manager of Cleveland: "I saw the Pete Graham-Jack Biddle fight, and I believe Biddle won the fight" Dunn writes. He also said that he intends to attend the Moran vs. Miller fight next Tuesday night in Ellwood City. Dunn reports that he has Mike Berksovich matched to fight in Chicago, in April. . . . Ty Cobb, the Georgia Peach of yesteryear's baseball, is in a Boston hospital for gall bladder trouble. . . . Some three years ago local newspapers carried a swell little story of a Sharon sportsman who had killed a good sized black bear with a bow and arrow. It was the first of these animals to be taken through use of this ancient weapon in Northwest Pennsylvania for many years. Back in frontier days many such kills were made, but now it was unusual news. In some other states and the great hunting grounds to our north, it is common to hear of bow hunters bringing down large species. They go in for it in a big way, but here in Pennsylvania, it has been pushed aside by modern hi-power rifles. Although the game commission provides special areas for this type of hunting, it has not been taken up extensively. Archers are required to have regular hunting license plus a $2.00 permit to take advantage of the special archery tracts. Gunners are not permitted in the area, according to Seth Myers of Northwest Sportsmen.

The most colorful predator in Pennsylvania is the fox. He is now many times more numerous than in the time of the Pilgrims. With man's westward migration, great stands of timber were felled. Following this, land was cleared and the soil was cultivated over much of what is now our Commonwealth. These operations naturally developed additional food preferred by foxes—field mice, rabbits, fruits and berries, and the introduced ringneck pheasant as well as farmers' poultry. Like other animals, the fox population increased in proportion to the improvement of his natural environment. As the result of these and other factors, in each of the past two years, upwards of 50,000 foxes, reds and grays combine, have been taken in this state. The game commission is making every effort to reduce foxes and other predacious animals and birds to reasonable numbers in the interest of small game hunters and poultrymen. Also considered is the fox hunters' right to their favorite sport. The commission desires to control, not exterminate the fox, recognizing that Reynard does some good, that he is not 100% villain as some believe.

Ecclesian Club To Meet Tuesday

Members of the Ecclesian club baseball team will have a meeting at the club rooms on South Jefferson street next Tuesday, March 30, at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced by Art Mittler. All those wanting a tryout with the Ecclesian team are asked to report. The team will enter the City league, it is understood.

GARDEN CARD ALTERED

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS)—The 20th Century Sporting club has announced a change in one of the three main event bouts headlining tonight's boxing card at Madison Square Garden.

Rocky Castellani, Pennsylvania middleweight, has withdrawn from his scheduled ten-round bout with Harold Green because of an injury sustained in training.

Smuggy Hursey, 19-year-old middleweight from Washington, replaces Castellani. The fight has been re-scheduled as an eight-rounder because of Hursey's age.

Heavy Betting Plummets Odds On Calumet Ace

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS)—So much money has been pouring in on Citation, the popular favorite for the Kentucky Derby, that the price on the Calumet Farms ace has been forced down to 6 to 5 in the latest winter book line.

This was the word today by Frank Frost, Reno, Nev., betting commissioner, who says:

"The opening price on citation is the shortest-priced Derby contender in many a year."

Currently coupled in second place at odds of 10 to 1 are the King Ranch's Better Self and Coaltown, another Calumet star.

Many horsemen believe that Coaltown is the fastest three-year-old in the country. Ben Jones, his trainer, says he is the fastest horse he ever handled.

If Coaltown should beat his much more famous stablemate in the run for the roses at Churchill Downs on May 1st, that would be all right with fans betting on the Calumet entry at the track. But it wouldn't put any meat on the table for those who wager on Citation.

The field will narrow down to about 15 horses on Derby Day, with all winter book bets gone out the window unless the horse actually goes to the post.

Penn State baseball teams under Joe Bedenk boast a record of two wins out of every three games played.

Seven Rescued As Vessel Goes Down

GLOUCESTER, Mass., March 26—(INS)—Captain and co-owner Joseph Billante, 41, and a six-man crew were saved today when the Gloucester Dragger Linta sank 40 miles east of Newburyport.

They were rescued by the crew of the Dragger Mary W., also of Gloucester, which proceeded to Gloucester with the men.

The Linta radioed that she had encountered engine trouble. A later message told of water coming into the engine room.

The final message said the vessel was awash and that the crew was abandoning the Dragger and being taken aboard the Mary W.

Declares Russia Desires Four-Power Control Of Germany

Chief Of Staff Of Soviet Administration In Germany Makes Statement

BERLIN, March 26.—(INS)—The chief of staff of the Soviet military administration in Germany declared today that Russia desires continued four-power control of Germany but cannot support the control council "If it is only a fiction."

The chief of staff, Lieut. Gen. Lukantschenko, reiterated Soviet charges that United States, British and French members of the council used that body "to disguise splitting tactics" in the western occupation zones.

Lukantschenko pointed out that since the middle of 1947 practically no agreements have been reached by the control council. He concluded that the council has become a debating club instead of a legislative and executive body.

For this he blamed the western allies.

He did not explain how the Soviets intended to break the present deadlock which occurred when the Russians demanded details of a recent three-power conference in London regarding the future of Germany and the allies refused to comply.

Allied circles in Berlin believed it possible, however, that Marshall Vassily Sokolovsky, Russian occupation commander who staged the walkout, may summon the control council to a normal meeting on March 30.

Oak Street Music Pupils Heard By Almira Home Ladies

Instrumental music pupils of Oak street grade school directed by their instructress Miss Grace Eakin and assisted by Arthur Canning, instrumental director of music in the New Castle schools, presented an excellent program of sacred music Thursday evening in the Almira Home on East Washington street.

The program sponsored by the Gleaners class of the First Baptist church, was opened with a devotional period led by Mrs. George Mitchell, teacher. The group was introduced by class president, Mrs. Trevor Griffiths.

A violin duet, played by Barbara Rodgers and Paul Henry opened the musical portion of the program. Audrey Kelly followed with two clarinet solos, "Son of My Soul" and "Abide With Me." The ensemble joined in playing, "My Faith Looks Up To Thee" and "Beautiful Saviour," with James Gess, and James Davis, trumpets; John Buckner, clarinet and Frank Buckner, trombone, playing.

An accordion solo, "This World Is Not My Home" by Virginia Cercell was followed by another, "The Last Mile." Barbara Rodgers was heard in two additional violin solos with Audrey Kelly and John Buckner playing a clarinet duet "A Green Hill." Bonita Santangelo played two accordion solos with a cornet-trumpet duet played by Barbara Rodgers and Audrey Kelly. Frank Buckner was heard in two concluding trumpet numbers with the entire group playing 'God Be With You."
